Parade, Services Scheduled In Circleville Memorial Day

SOLDIERS GLEN, FOREST CEMETERY — A cannon atop the knoll of Soldiers Glen in Circleville's Forest Cemetery is symbolic of action which claimed the lives of many men. Soldiers of all U. S. wars will be honored Memorial Day as the nation observes a day of dedication to those who fought to defend their flag and country. Ceremonies at Circleville will be observed at Soldiers Glen and High Street Cemetery.

Circleville's Memorial Day observance will commence at 9 a.m. Saturday with services in High St. Cemetery by the American Legion.

The Memorial Day parade will leave Memorial Hall 9:30 a.m., move west on Main St. to Court St., north on Court St. to Soldier's Glen in Forest Cemetery where ceremonies will be held. Rev. Donald Brown of Circleville Bible College will deliver the Memorial Day address.

Participating in the parade will be city, county and state law officials, American Legion Color Guard, National Guard Firing Squad, VFW members and Auxiliary, Circleville American Legion members and Auxiliary.

VETERANS of all wars will pass in review. Autos will provide transportation along the parade route for 16 of Circleville's World War I veterans as well as for disabled veterans.

Other units to march will be Girl Scouts and Brownies, Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts.

Parade music will be provided by bands of Circleville Senior and Junior High Schools. County Veteran Service Officer James P. Shea will serve as master of ceremonies for the program at Soldiers Glen with participation from units of the parade.

The Memorial Day program is under the direction of L. Robert Liston Jr. Included in the committees for the observance are Dr. Walter Heine, grand marshal and Edgar Haynes, grave flagging.

Afternoon services will be observed in Darbyville where the community will sponsor a Memorial Day ceremony to begin 1 p.m. Visitors and participants are asked to meet at the Darbyville School building where Jerry Massie, vice president of the Community Youth Group will dedicate the flag and present it to Jean Knece, president of the town council.

The flag will be raised and then lowered to half mast in memory of the soldiers to whom the day is dedicated.

A MARCH will be made to the cemetery. Following benediction by Rev. Kenneth Campbell and reading of "In Flanders Fields" by Linda S. Stutz, children will place flowers on the soldiers graves.

The assemblage will return to the school before dispersing at the conclusion of services.

presence of the National Guard. Many students have left the campus for the holiday weekend. There are no classes until Monday.

In another development Thursday, nine students filed a motion in common pleas court here against eight students, one faculty member and the Ad Hoc Committee, the Third World Solidarity Committee and the Student Mobilization Committee.

The suit asks a court order banning further disruptions by the three groups, dismissal of Prof. David Kettler of the Political Science Department and two teaching assistants and $1 million damages on behalf of students barred from classrooms by demonstrators and by the closing of the school earlier this month.

A spokesman for the students filing the motion said it hopes to set up a nationwide organization to help with similar actions at other schools disrupted by violent protesters.

Police, Guard Are Withdrawn From Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The last of more than 5,000 National Guardsmen and Highway Patrolmen called in to help quell disorders at Ohio State University have been withdrawn, leaving the campus without extra security forces for the first time in more than a week.

About 2,000 guardsmen and a handful of patrolmen were withdrawn Thursday night after guard and patrol officers met with university officials.

They were ordered to the campus area May 21.

The troops were released a few hours after a brief encounter with demonstrators outside the administration building, where Ohio State leaders were meeting with spokesmen for various student groups.

About 50 guardsmen stood at entrances to the building. Some 150 students rushed at them, stopped, then began throwing marshmallows. A sign held by the students read, "2,500 marshmallows for the students—2,000 guns for the National Guard."

Ohio State President Novice G. Fawcett termed Thursday's meeting fruitful and said another would be held Monday.

Lorraine Cohen, a leader of the Ad Hoc Committee for Student Rights, disagreed. She said the meeting one of no benefit and it is not known when negotiations will continue.

The dissident groups earlier had said they would not negotiate on campus because of the

Soviet Belligerence Grows In Mideast; U.S. Worried

Senate Sets Crucial Vote On War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Sherman Cooper says next weeks vote to bar enforcement of his proposal to restrict U.S. activities in Cambodia will provide the first clear test of strength in the three-week Senate debate.

The amendment, offered by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., would make the proposed fund cutoff inoperative as long as Americans are held prisoner by the North Vietnamese in Cambodia.

"If the members in here aren't impressed by that," Cooper, R-Ky., said in an interview, "they won't be impressed by the other amendments either."

The Senate agreed before it adjourned Thursday for the Memorial Day weekend to vote Wednesday on Dole's amendment.

But the key vote is likely to come on a bid by Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., to table—and thus kill—the Dole amendment. He said it "is quite clearly designed to destroy any effect whatsoever of the Cooper-Church proposal barring funds after July 1 for 'retaining U.S. forces in Cambodia.'"

After Dole's amendment is acted on, Sen. Robert C. Byrd,

D-W.Va., says he will offer another amendment authorizing the President "to take such actions as may be necessary to protect the lives of United States forces in South Vietnam and to hasten their withdrawal."

Cooper said both amendments deal with the subject that he finds increasingly mentioned in his mail: the contention by administration forces that Cooper-Church proponents are refusing to permit protection of U.S. troops in the field.

"They know better," Cooper said, pointing out the proposal would permit "hot pursuit of the enemy across the South Vietnam-Cambodia border and "salutes over the line to protect the troops."

The only limit on the power to protect troops, the Kentucky Republican said, is that it tells the President "you can't use this argument to become involved in another war."

But Fulbright charged in a floor speech Thursday "relying as much as possible on its South Vietnamese clients, and perhaps also on Thai and, if possible, Indonesian 'advisers,' the administration now apparently intends to sustain an indefinite, full-scale military involvement by proxy in Cambodia."

Has Bearing On Israeli Bid For Jets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will seek assurance from Moscow in talks next week that Soviet pilots in Egypt will not fly offensive missions against Israel.

Administration policy makers are not optimistic about the Washington discussions, but they agree the outcome will have an important bearing on President Nixon's forthcoming decision on an Israeli request for more warplanes.

The lack of U.S. optimism stems from an apparent belief the Soviets have embarked on a tough and threatening course in the Middle East.

This in turn has brought on a similar display of determination by the administration in approaching the upcoming confrontation.

This became apparent Thursday when State Department press officer Carl Barch said Russia's reply to a previous inquiry about its military involvement in Egypt was "both precise and unsatisfactory."

The meeting, between Asst. Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, is a follow up to a May 5 session in Moscow involving U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir Vnogradov.

There also have been some four - power meetings at the United Nations on the Middle East. But, according to reports to Washington, the Soviets have shown a tough and uncooperative attitude, increasing the impression they are on a hard policy line.

President Urges U.S. Youth To Turn To Spiritual Values

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Nixon has told a youth night crowd at a Billy Graham crusade that to realize their full potential, young Americans "must turn to those great spiritual sources that have made America the great country it is."

The crusade was held Thursday night at the University of Tennessee football stadium, and a university official estimated that 75,000 heard the President and the evangelist speak.

The President, appearing on a college campus for the first time in almost a year, was interrupted during his brief speech by a small band of hecklers chanting "peace now and 'one, two, three, four we don't want Nixon's war. The crowd booed the demonstrators."

Police arrested nine persons on charges of disturbing a public worship, a misdemeanor.

Nixon said he and the students both want the same thing—peace.

"I can tell you my life is dedicated to the cause that I know you are dedicated to, all of you, the chief executive declared. "I want this nation to be at peace, and we shall be."

"A great majority of Americans young people, as I do, do approve of dissent but they say they want the right to be heard and when they speak they want the right to be heard and when they speak they think other people should be silent so that they can be heard."

The President continued: "It is a generation that is not the lost generation, as some Americans think. It isn't the beat generation. It isn't the beat-up generation. It can be and will become the great young generation."

Nixon conceded America is not everything he would like it to be. Young people, he said, are concerned about such things as air and water pollution, poor housing, inferior education and alienation between the races.

"I know there are things about America that are wrong," he said. "But I also know that this is a country where a young person knows that there is a peaceful way he can change what he doesn't like about America and that is why it is a great country."

Ohio Airman Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department reported Thursday that Air Force Capt. James E. Cross of 1148 Central Parkway, Warren, Ohio, has been killed in hostile action in Southeast Asia. He previously was listed as missing.

Cloud Aide Says He Asked Crofters Firm For Donation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An assistant to State Auditor Robert Cloud says he solicited a contribution to Clouds campaign from an officer of Crofters, Inc., even though he knew Crofters were linked with an audit Clouds office was making.

Deputy Auditor Carol D. Long said in a deposition released Thursday he asked Gerald Donahue, a Crofters officer, to buy tickets to a fund-raising dinner before Cloud won the Republican gubernatorial nomination May 5.

Long said Donahue, a former state tax commissioner and long-time GOP figure, gave him $1,000 and told him to give away some tickets. Cloud has said he ordered the money returned when he found out about it after winning the primary.

Crofters is an agency Cloud has said helped commercial firms borrow more than $50 million from the state, for which Crofters received large fees. Clouds office was auditing loans of funds from the School Retirement System at the time the contribution was made. Some of the loans were set up by Crofters.

Long's statement said, "I recognized... that we were conducting an audit of the SERS system and that during that audit we had become aware that Crofters was involved and that Mr. Donahue was a member of Crofters."

Long said he kept the money until one or two days after the primary. When he told Cloud about the money, Long said he "directed me to return it. He said he did not return the money until May 18, after Cloud had told him again to "get it returned."

2 Cincinnatians Held For Murder

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two Cincinnatians have been named in a first-degree murder indictment in the shooting death of a delicatessen operator here during an attempted robbery.

The Hamilton County Grand Jury returned the joint indictment Thursday against Charles Broadnax, 40, and Choya Jackson, 18, a student at the time, in the death of Paul Keith, 49, on April 24.

The defendants are also charged in the wounding of Keith's wife, Celeste, 50, during the incident.

Ohio House Panel Eyes Campus Disorder Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The House Judiciary Committee, saddled with the task of presenting a campus disorders bill, stayed on for hearings Thursday as the rest of the 108th General Assembly declared a recess.

The committee, in a near marathon session since Tuesday, continued to hear testimony from students, professors, administrators and other legislators.

Paul Cook, a black student at Ohio State University, warned the committee, that "we must start with solutions and not deal with symptoms. Cook added that the passage of a disruptive bill would bring renewed disruption to campuses."

"We have disruption," he said, "because there is no communication between students and administration."

Cook told the committee that "you are dealing with students with a new kind of commitment... students who will not sit idly by."

Timothy Sheeran, former president of the student body at Ohio State University, also warned against "simplistic answers to complex problems. He called for a separate disciplinary procedure, outside the university community, to handle problems associated with riot and disruption. Sheeran claimed the university role of disciplinarian jeopardized its role as communicator with students."

Two professors spoke at the afternoon session, both of whom urged that laws also "represent justice and that the option of flexible response be left in the hands of the faculty and administrators."

Committee hearings are scheduled to continue well into Friday, and through the weekend if necessary, according to committee chairman Rep. Barry Levey, R-39 Middletown. Legislation is expected from the committee on Monday.

Both houses return at 4 p.m. Monday to try to wrap up pending measures on education funding, campus disorders and state investment practices before adjournment.

Earlier in the day the House passed 87-2 a Senate resolution setting up a 15-member legislative committee to study the campus problem.

The two dissenters, both Republicans, said they favored the spirit of the resolution but thought a bill ought to be voted on that provided immediate remedies. The study of causes should come afterward, they argued.

The resolution returns to the Senate for concurrence on several minor changes.

The House also approved a bill that would underwrite contractors for construction of low cost housing. The vote was 79-18.

The bill creates a seven-member board to make loans available to builders of low cost housing. The initial finding for the project will come from nearly $11 million in unclaimed funds in banks throughout the state.

This bill, too, goes back to the Senate for approval of minor changes.

The Senate agreed 29-0 to a new obscenity bill before calling it quits for the weekend.

The bill redefines obscenity based on its effect on minors. The measure clarifies the current law on the sale or distribution of obscene materials and reiterates penalties for obscenity law violations.

An amendment to exempt protectionists from prosecution was defeated 17-10.

Sexy Potatoes Off Mailing List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can get their names taken off commercial mailing lists that offer everything from pornography to potatoes simply by telling their postmasters they find the products too sexy.

"If somebody says he finds an advertisement for potatoes erotically arousing or sexually provocative, we're not going to challenge his motives or his reasons," one Post Office Department official said Thursday.

The basis for the policy is a 1967 law—recently upheld by the Supreme Court—designed to take innocent families off the mailing lists of pornography pushers.

WEIRTON, W. Va. (AP) — Francis A. Tompkins, 52, Toronto, Ohio, died Thursday in Weirton, W. Va. General Hospital of injuries received when he was hit by a train Wednesday at the railroad yards here. Tompkins had been a Penn Central brakeman for 31 years.

Cape Kennedy Slates Cutback

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Kennedy Space Center, which has released nearly 7,000 workers in 10 months, will dismiss another 500 to 1,000 in the next month because of a diminished launch schedule.

More may go later this year. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday that a work force of contractor and civil service personnel at the center will drop by July 1 from the present 17,500 to between 15,500 and 17,000.

Before the Apollo 11 moon landing last July, nearly 24,000 were employed here on Apollo and other NASA projects, most of them contractor personnel.

Oil Platform Blast Kills 4

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Aircraft and Coast Guard vessels searched through the night for five men missing in an offshore oil platform explosion and fire in which four were known dead and 15 injured.

A platform storage tank was ruptured, creating an oil slick and threatening contamination of Galveston Island beaches.

Coast Guard Lt. R. E. Harrington said an explosion of unknown origin Thursday on the platform, 12 miles from the coast, apparently set off the fire. Flames quickly spread to a repair boat floating underneath.

Of 17 known survivors out of 26 men in the boat or on the platform, only two escaped injury. Four of the injured were hospitalized.

"The oil spill really is comparatively small but it is going to come in near Galveston," Harrington said.

A spokesman for Gov. Preston Smith said the slick was more than three miles long and a quarter-to-a-half-mile wide.

Three oil wells about 3,500 feet away are linked with the platform but a spokesman for Chambers & Kennedy Oil Co. in Houston, owners of the structure, said the wells had been closed off when a repair job got under way two weeks ago.

"The only thing burning is some oil we had in five 1,000-barrel storage tanks and they were only about one-third full, the spokesman said.

Only one of the dead had been identified. He was Barnwell Armstrong of Lake Jackson.

Sex Potatoes Off Mailing List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans can get their names taken off commercial mailing lists that offer everything from pornography to potatoes simply by telling their postmasters they find the products too sexy.

"If somebody says he finds an advertisement for potatoes erotically arousing or sexually provocative, we're not going to challenge his motives or his reasons," one Post Office Department official said Thursday.

The basis for the policy is a 1967 law—recently upheld by the Supreme Court—designed to take innocent families off the mailing lists of pornography pushers.

Injuries Prove Fatal

Cape Kennedy Slates Cutback

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Kennedy Space Center, which has released nearly 7,000 workers in 10 months, will dismiss another 500 to 1,000 in the next month because of a diminished launch schedule.

More may go later this year. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Thursday that a work force of contractor and civil service personnel at the center will drop by July 1 from the present 17,500 to between 15,500 and 17,000.

Before the Apollo 11 moon landing last July, nearly 24,000 were employed here on Apollo and other NASA projects, most of them contractor personnel.

Digestive Disorders

It is a sad fact that Americans spend more than $250 million each year on stomach remedies while seeking relief from a wide range of digestive disorders.

Some cases of digestive disorders are, of course due to improper eating and drinking habits, and environmental tension. But, a major cause of these disorders is faulty digestion due to improper or abnormal nerve function. The complex chemistry of digestion, from indigestion of food in the mouth to evacuation of waste through the bowel, is dependent upon the function of the nervous system. Any irregularity in digestion or elimination suggests an interference somewhere along the line of nerve supply from the brain to the digestive tract.

Chiropractic science specializes in restoring normal nerve function and, therefore, offers a new, effective approach to correcting the cause of digestive disorders.

Presented in the public interest for better health through chiropractic by the Circleville Chiropractic Center under the auspices of the Central Ohio Chiropractic Association.

Senate Fails Early Vote On Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is ready to adjourn for the Memorial Day weekend without any sign of action soon on the proposal to curb U.S. operations in Cambodia.

In a brief floor flurry Wednesday, Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield first suggested a vote today on one of a series of amendments to negate the proposed curb. Then, obviously embarrassed, he objected to one.

The unexplained reason: high absenteeism before a holiday. In addition, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, the bill's floor manager, planned to leave for California for his son's marriage.

There was some talk of a vote early next week—possibly Tuesday—on a proposal by Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., but other amendments would have to be disposed of before the Senate can come to grips with the Cambodia cutoff move, sponsored by Church and Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky.

Although Cooper-Church supporters are believed to command a majority now, Dole said "Time is working on the President's side."

The State Department released Wednesday a presidential determination that clears the way for sales of U.S. arms to Cambodia for cash or credit and approved the supply of up to $7.9 million in arms shipments under the Foreign Assistance Act.

Cambodia has not applied for purchase of U.S. arms. Nor has the Phnom Penh government asked for credit, currently unavailable because Congress has not yet passed legislation for it.

The presidential memorandum also disclosed that arms were shipped to Cambodia nearly a month before Nixon signed the retroactive memorandum.

Cardinal Suenens In Collision With Pope

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

For several days, he later related, he remained in seclusion, praying, wrestling with his conscience. Then he emerged to hurl the thunderbolt that is reverberating through the ruling echelons of Roman Catholicism.

In a rare skirmish, on a basic issue, it has pitted a cardinal in contention with the Pope.

"I will not hide from you the suffering this entailed," Cardinal Leo Joseph Suenens commented in an ensuing sermon last week in his home Cathedral of Malines in Belgium. "But I felt obliged, in conscience, before God, to assume my responsibilities as bishop."

He says the primary issue, underlying the incidental matters that have brought it into focus, is how the Church is to be governed, whether by jointly shared deliberation, or only by papal decision.

"It is a deadlock," he said in the controversial interview in France two weeks ago that touched off the repercussions. The full text was published this week in a major Catholic weekly in this country, the National Register.

What brought the issue to a head, he said, was the action of Pope Paul VI in forbidding collegial consideration with the Church's bishops of the question of mandatory celibacy of priests.

The Pope earlier also excluded the problem of birth control from joint consideration by the bishops, the cardinal said, adding that these rulings disallowed exercise of the principle of co-responsibility espoused by the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council.

It puts the bishops in an "impossible situation," he said, of being barred from discussing a question (of priestly celibacy) that is being widely and openly discussed by others in the Church—laity, priests and theologians.

"The bishops are apparently caught between two conflicting choices: either they appear disloyal to Rome, or they appear to dodge their responsibility in their local churches. Either lose credit or lose credibility."

Pope Paul subsequently has expressed "pained astonishment" at the criticism. He said it was delivered "in a manner that does not seem to us fitting to the brotherly style required by collegiality itself."

He emphasized his respect for the Vatican Council's teaching in regard to the "collegiality of bishops" in sharing guidance of the Church.

Cardinal Suenens, 66, a learned, frank-talking prelate, a former university rector and theologian, said later in an interview in the Long Island Catholic this week that his criticisms were aimed only at the way the Church government was operating.

"It was not an attack on the Pope, the person, but an attack on the Church government—the Vatican correspondent, Robert R. Holton.

He said that actually, his views were in support of papal primacy since, in order to strengthen present-day authority in Church leadership, it should be used in a shared, collegial way, rather than in the opposite way.

Asked about speculation that he sought to develop the issue as a springboard toward becoming the next Pope, he chuckled and said, "That's nonsense. If you wish to aim at that, you must not take the positions I am taking." He said he realized he had risked being removed from his position as cardinal by his criticisms, but was willing to face the costs. He said his main hope is "that the Church today should be adapted to the needs of today."

In a rare skirmish, on a basic issue, it has pitted a cardinal in contention with the Pope.

"I will not hide from you the suffering this entailed," Cardinal Leo Joseph Suenens commented in an ensuing sermon last week in his home Cathedral of Malines in Belgium. "But I felt obliged, in conscience, before God, to assume my responsibilities as bishop."

He says the primary issue, underlying the incidental matters that have brought it into focus, is how the Church is to be governed, whether by jointly shared deliberation, or only by papal decision.

"It is a deadlock," he said in the controversial interview in France two weeks ago that touched off the repercussions. The full text was published this week in a major Catholic weekly in this country, the National Register.

What brought the issue to a head, he said, was the action of Pope Paul VI in forbidding collegial consideration with the Church's bishops of the question of mandatory celibacy of priests.

The Pope earlier also excluded the problem of birth control from joint consideration by the bishops, the cardinal said, adding that these rulings disallowed exercise of the principle of co-responsibility espoused by the 1962-65 Second Vatican Council.

It puts the bishops in an "impossible situation," he said, of being barred from discussing a question (of priestly celibacy) that is being widely and openly discussed by others in the Church—laity, priests and theologians.

"The bishops are apparently caught between two conflicting choices: either they appear disloyal to Rome, or they appear to dodge their responsibility in their local churches. Either lose credit or lose credibility."

Pope Paul subsequently has expressed "pained astonishment" at the criticism. He said it was delivered "in a manner that does not seem to us fitting to the brotherly style required by collegiality itself."

He emphasized his respect for the Vatican Council's teaching in regard to the "collegiality of bishops" in sharing guidance of the Church.

Cardinal Suenens, 66, a learned, frank-talking prelate, a former university rector and theologian, said later in an interview in the Long Island Catholic this week that his criticisms were aimed only at the way the Church government was operating.

"It was not an attack on the Pope, the person, but an attack on the Church government—the Vatican correspondent, Robert R. Holton.

He said that actually, his views were in support of papal primacy since, in order to strengthen present-day authority in Church leadership, it should be used in a shared, collegial way, rather than in the opposite way.

Asked about speculation that he sought to develop the issue as a springboard toward becoming the next Pope, he chuckled and said, "That's nonsense. If you wish to aim at that, you must not take the positions I am taking." He said he realized he had risked being removed from his position as cardinal by his criticisms, but was willing to face the costs. He said his main hope is "that the Church today should be adapted to the needs of today."

A Tribute To Life

Since colonial days, Americans have been the antithesis of ancestor worshippers. There has always been an eagerness to embrace new ways, new places, new ideas.

This continually changing outlook has given America a zest that older nations, following the set ways of their forebears, did not have.

Is it right, then, that on May 30 the United States puts aside all other business to go to the cemeteries to decorate the graves of those who have gone before us?

It is not only right, it is necessary. A sense of the continuity of life is very necessary for man. He does his best when he is invigorated by gratitude to the generations who preceded him, and a sense of responsibility toward those who come after him.

A pretty flower laid upon a grave, or a flag flying beside a tombstone on Memorial Day is not a tribute to death. It is a tribute to the life that once surged through the body in that grave.

In a way, it is an admonition to all of us to make the best use of the mysterious force called life; for it is a gift that each of us holds all too briefly on this earth.

And how we use our lives can shape, for good or evil, the destiny of those who may someday lay flowers upon our graves.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

By STERLING F. GREEN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — How long can President Nixon resist the anxious clamor for some kind of "guideposts" or "income policy" to curb soaring prices and calm investors' nerves?

That's the Washington guessing game of the day. Will Nixon's speech on the state of the economy—the talk promised exactly one month ago but not even scheduled for delivery—move his administration toward more intervention in private price and wage decisions?

Some think political pressure may provide the answer. The Democrats already appear to have made inflation a major issue for the fall congressional elections. And a Democratic bill proposes creation of a board authorized to freeze prices and wages for six months. Nixon will reject that resolutely as will the Democratic leaders who recall the price-control bureaucracies which had indifferent success in World War II and the Korean War.

But some administration officials think the White House will modify its hands-off-the-economy policy—possibly to the extent of the "jawbone" kind of suasion, or the posting of voluntary price and wage benchmarks.

That might happen if Republican candidates begin to complain that the administration's failure to curb inflation is hurting the election chances of the GOP in November or if it appears necessary to adopt mild controls to head off stronger Democratic legislation.

Alarm signals visible to the White House have already been hoisted on the GOP side of Capitol Hill. Three Republican senators—none of them up for election this fall—introduced a bill calling for a mild form of White House surveillance over inflation.

Sens. Jacob Javits of New York, Jack Miller of Iowa and Len B. Jordan of Idaho proposed that the President's Council of Economic Advisers be required to speak out publicly on any price boosts or wage settlements with potentially inflationary consequences.

Other Republicans, too prominent to be ignored, have weighed in. Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board has testified that an incomes policy might be necessary temporarily. "Incomes policy" is a European phrase applied to a spectrum of stabilizing systems ranging from outright ceilings to mild but formalized guidelines.

Burns—who went along with the hands-off policy when he was the President's top domestic counselor—now holds that a voluntary curb might be needed, "provided it stopped well short of price and wage controls."

Housing Secretary George Romney also spoke critically of the President's declared neutrality. "We have jawboning, but it has been jawboning against jawboning," Romney complained last week.

Some observers wondered whether the Burns and Romney comments were trial balloons for a switch in White House policy. Not so. Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the President's Council disparaged the mild Javits bill and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy took issue with Burns.

But if the seasons change, why can't people? Wouldn't it be wonderful if just this year everybody on earth did something different on his vacation, tried some adventure that had beckoned to him all his life but whose challenge he had never answered? It would have a tonic effect on him whether it proved to be fun or foolish.

What could one do? Well, one man's secret daydream could be another's nightmare, but you might, for once in your life—

Drink wine from a goatskin bag.

Have a cannibal for lunch during National Brotherhood Week.

Hire a sky writer to inscribe aloft your views about what we should do about Vietnam.

Start an antigambling crusade at Las Vegas.

Cool a war, warm a peace. Launch a drive to have the White House painted a more interesting color.

Initiate a fund to give free rose-colored glasses to every college student in America.

Wherever you go, take along a couple of briefcases and do the work you've been ducking at the office all year. That would really make a memorable vacation for everyone, including the boss.

being born in 1819 instead of 1919. Now, that 51-year-old must feel just like a kid again.

It's estimated that by 1990 some 85 per cent of the population of Missouri will be living in its cities. How'd that old story go? — "Meet You in St. Louis, Louie!"

The first public office held by Zachary Taylor was as president of the United States. That's starting at the top.

A Tribute To Life

Since colonial days, Americans have been the antithesis of ancestor worshippers. There has always been an eagerness to embrace new ways, new places, new ideas.

This continually changing outlook has given America a zest that older nations, following the set ways of their forebears, did not have.

Is it right, then, that on May 30 the United States puts aside all other business to go to the cemeteries to decorate the graves of those who have gone before us?

It is not only right, it is necessary. A sense of the continuity of life is very necessary for man. He does his best when he is invigorated by gratitude to the generations who preceded him, and a sense of responsibility toward those who come after him.

A pretty flower laid upon a grave, or a flag flying beside a tombstone on Memorial Day is not a tribute to death. It is a tribute to the life that once surged through the body in that grave.

In a way, it is an admonition to all of us to make the best use of the mysterious force called life; for it is a gift that each of us holds all too briefly on this earth.

And how we use our lives can shape, for good or evil, the destiny of those who may someday lay flowers upon our graves.

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — How long can President Nixon resist the anxious clamor for some kind of "guideposts" or "income policy" to curb soaring prices and calm investors' nerves?

That's the Washington guessing game of the day. Will Nixon's speech on the state of the economy—the talk promised exactly one month ago but not even scheduled for delivery—move his administration toward more intervention in private price and wage decisions?

Some think political pressure may provide the answer. The Democrats already appear to have made inflation a major issue for the fall congressional elections. And a Democratic bill proposes creation of a board authorized to freeze prices and wages for six months. Nixon will reject that resolutely as will the Democratic leaders who recall the price-control bureaucracies which had indifferent success in World War II and the Korean War.

But some administration officials think the White House will modify its hands-off-the-economy policy—possibly to the extent of the "jawbone" kind of suasion, or the posting of voluntary price and wage benchmarks.

That might happen if Republican candidates begin to complain that the administration's failure to curb inflation is hurting the election chances of the GOP in November or if it appears necessary to adopt mild controls to head off stronger Democratic legislation.

Alarm signals visible to the White House have already been hoisted on the GOP side of Capitol Hill. Three Republican senators—none of them up for election this fall—introduced a bill calling for a mild form of White House surveillance over inflation. Sens. Jacob Javits of New York, Jack Miller of Iowa and Len B. Jordan of Idaho proposed that the President's Council of Economic Advisers be required to speak out publicly on any price boosts or wage settlements with potentially inflationary consequences.

Other Republicans, too prominent to be ignored, have weighed in. Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board has testified that an incomes policy might be necessary temporarily. "Incomes policy" is a European phrase applied to a spectrum of stabilizing systems ranging from outright ceilings to mild but formalized guidelines.

Burns—who went along with the hands-off policy when he was the President's top domestic counselor—now holds that a voluntary curb might be needed, "provided it stopped well short of price and wage controls."

Housing Secretary George Romney also spoke critically of the President's declared neutrality. "We have jawboning, but it has been jawboning against jawboning," Romney complained last week.

Some observers wondered whether the Burns and Romney comments were trial balloons for a switch in White House policy. Not so. Chairman Paul W. McCracken of the President's Council disparaged the mild Javits bill and Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy took issue with Burns.

IN NATCHEZ, Miss., Mrs. Vance Randolph's six-year-old son, obviously impeccably reared, came home from a party in fine spirits, to be asked by his mother, "Were you the youngest one there?"

"Not at all," he answered loftily. "There was another gentleman present who was wheeled in in a baby carriage."

The village pest met Joe Klingenstein returning from Ranke Lake with a fine mess of fish, and observed admiringly, "That's a good day's catch! What'd ye use fer bait?"

"Chewing tobacco," joshed Joe. "Never heard of nothin' like that bein' used fer bait," wondered the pest. "How'd ye use it?"

"Simple," explained Joe. "You just put it on the hook. The fish snaps it and retreats. Then when he comes to the surface to spit, you conk him over the head with your pole."

CAMPUS DIALOGUE:
1. Will you contribute a five-spot to help the Old Ladies' Home?"

"Heavens! Don't tell me they're out again!"
2. "Hey, clerk, I'd like a nice pair of hose for my girl friend."
3. "Sheer?" "No. She's at her sorority house."
4. "You have acute tonsillitis."

"Thanks, Doc!"
5. "I enjoyed that last hug very much, Donald."
6. "The pressure was all mine."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I have been burdened by Americans given the vaccine to prevent it?

Dear Mr. R.: At the turn of the century there was an epidemic of yellow fever in one of the southern states. Since then, only isolated cases occur in people who have been infected with the virus that causes it in some tropical or subtropical climates.

The virus is transmitted by the female of the species of mosquito known as aedes aegypti.

The remarkable controls by the quarantine rules and the Public Health Services in the United States makes it unnecessary for a universal program of immunization against Yellow Fever.

Remember that all pork must be thoroughly cooked to prevent trichinosis.

Headaches can be caused by circulation changes. Migraine, the headache of high blood pressure or drugs and cluster headaches are in this group. Tension headaches are traced to problems of the muscles of the skull and not to the "tension of emotions."

Allergies and organic diseases of the brain can most certainly cause severe headaches and must be eliminated as a reason. I gather by your letter that you have been bouncing around from doctor to doctor without giving any one of them a chance to really track down the cause of your headaches. That which you can now do is to present your total problem to your family doctor and with him seek the advice of a physician who may specialize in the treatment of headaches.

So important is headache as a destructive force in our society and in industry that there is an American Association for the Study of Headaches, with members who devote themselves exclusively to this massive problem.

The fact that you say you have been accused "of having a psychosomatic headache" further emphasizes this need. Even if they were caused by psychological problems, there should be no "accusation."

There is a distinct difference between a headache which is caused by the emotions and the emotional overtones of a headache.

Has there ever been an epidemic of yellow fever in the United States? Why aren't

Soviets Woo Arabs

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The Soviet May Day slogans, as analyzed by Radio Liberty's Christian Duevel, contain a most ominous note. It used to be that the slogans spoke of moving "under the banner of Marxism-Leninism, under the leadership of the Communist Party, forward along the Leninist road to Communism." They also hailed Communism as "the bright future of mankind."

But this last May 1 there was a switch. The new slogans pay tribute to the "militant Marxist Leninist vanguard of the working class and of all toilers, the steadfast fighters against imperialism, for peace, democracy, national independence, and socialism."

To the casual reader, the substitution of the word "socialism" for "Communism" may seem like a distinction without a difference. But Mr. Duevel, who has been a most trustworthy analyst and prophet over the years, doesn't see it that way. He links the change to Moscow's interest in the Arab-Israeli conflict. Many of the Soviet Union's friends abroad, he says, do not share the goal of Communism, whether bright or not, with the Russians. In particular, the Arab world abhors Communism for local consumption; the Nasserites are all for "peace, democracy, national independence and socialism," but they don't go beyond that. The socialism they espouse is something called "Arab socialism," not the Marxist-Leninist variety.

Moscow's willingness to adapt its slogans to the Arabs comes at a time when Soviet adventurism in the Middle East is beginning to remind more than one commentator of Premier Khrushchev's move into Cuba with long-distance missiles. Last week, at a dinner meeting in Hartford, Conn., an organization called Ye Connecticut Gun Guild presented a rare old Kentucky muzzle-loading rifle to the Israeli government. The weapon, which might have commanded hundreds of dollars on the auction market, is destined for the Israel Defense Forces Museum in Tel Aviv.

The evening was predominantly one of good fellowship, but when Colonel Uri Yaron, the Israeli Assistant Air Force and Naval attaché in Washington, started speaking there was a somber hush in the hall. The Israeli air force, he said, has had to put all of Egypt off limits save for a narrow strip along the Suez Canal. The Soviets have covered Alexandria, Cairo and the Aswan Dam region with the redoubtable SAM-3 anti-aircraft missiles, which do not allow for surprise raids at any altitude, whether high or low. And the SAM-3s are manned by expert Soviet crews, along with the Soviet MIGs now standing on Egyptian airfields ready to take off against Israeli planes should they threaten the SAM-3 sites in any way.

This means that the Arab buildup against Israel can go unchecked. Israel has been deprived of the ability to make preventive warfare; the conditions that made swift victory in the six-day war possible in 1967 are no longer there.

The preparation for a combined Soviet-Egyptian operation against Israel may stop short of completion if the Soviet economic condition is as bad as one hears it is. Nevertheless, the Russian people are currently being "conditioned" for war in the Middle East. Pravda has taken to printing long background pieces about Arab-Soviet friendship. The "many Egyptian young men and women (who) are studying in the Soviet Union" are hailed. "In the current year," says Pravda, "six hundred young Arab specialists will complete higher education in the USSR, and at the same time one hundred and forty Arab scholars are to defend dissertations for advanced degrees in our country.

More and more it is appearing that President Nixon's failure to send those Phantom Jets to Israel was a prime boo-boo. The Soviets took Secretary of State William Rogers' peace offering as a sign of indecision and weakness. Instead of picking up the Nixon-Rogers olive branch, Moscow proceeded to raise the number of its military men in Egypt from some three thousand to ten thousand. Our error in trying to placate the Soviets in the Middle East is all the more astounding because Richard Nixon is a close student of Communist strategies, dating back to his connection with the Hiss-Chambers case. He has been criticized for not listening to Rogers on the Cambodian strategy. It would have been more to the point if he had never listened to Rogers at all.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Abby:

Mountain Goats Appeal To Some

DEAR ABBY: You stated, "If there is an International Brotherhood of Mountain Goats, I hereby offer my most humble apologies for saying they smell bad."

You were probably joking, but there is an "International Order of Rocky Mountain Goats," and no apologies are in order for your remarks concerning the odor of goats, domestic or mountain. (Neither variety smells like Chanel No. 5.)

Unfortunately women cannot join this organization or I would submit your name for honorary membership, but at our next meeting I shall propose a toast to you.

STEVE FRAZEE
Salida, Colo.

DEAR STEVE: I don't know that many women would care to butt into the "International Order of Rocky Mountain Goats," but those who do shouldn't be denied membership because of their sex. Perhaps you'll be hearing from the Women's Liberation Movement about this.

DEAR ABBY: KNOWS HIS GOATS doesn't know his goats! It's true, the Barnyard Billy goat may not smell very good to humans, but he smells fine to the Nanny goat who is just about as particular an animal as you can find anywhere.

You hear a lot of stupid jokes about goats, but they are not true. They say goats eat tin cans, rags, garbage-anything. They won't. Goats will "investigate" and nibble, but they are very particular about what they eat. How else could goat's milk be considered therapeutic?

Goats are much maligned. They are intelligent and clean and they have "kids" as humans do. So if you want to brag about your kids-try goats. They are something to brag about.

KNOWS MY GOATS

DEAR ABBY: One of the best reasons for reading advice columns is that they whittle down our own problems to their proper dimensions. When we are in the throes of despair because of a serious illness, a marriage on the rocks, or a cherished relationship smashed forever-let us be reminded of what it means to really "suffer."

That was my reaction when I read the heartbreaking story of that poor woman who watches TV from 7 in the morning until midnight, daily. Her problem? The increasing number of actors who are letting their hair grow longer and longer. "I have watched some formerly good-looking actors transformed into something rather sickening," she said.

Could anyone read that and fail to respond with deepest compassion? And shouldn't that make us ashamed to complain about our petty troubles? My heart aches for that poor woman who spends 17 hours a day sadly and helplessly watching hair grow longer on TV!

REV. C.W. KIRKPATRICK
HOUSATONIC, Mass.

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column where someone wanted to know if she should marry her first cousin. Glory be! Now why would anybody want to marry their cousin? They way most people get along with their relatives, it's bad enough to be related to them accidentally, but to marry them on purpose is really insane.

Me? I'd rather take my chances and marry a stranger. "FREE AND ENJOYING IT"

Turner And Herbert Slate Explanations To Ohio GOP

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Treasurer John D. Herbert and Sen. Robin T. Turner will get a chance to explain their positions in the campaign contributions scandal before the Ohio Republican Party makes any move to disown them.

Herbert, the GOP candidate for attorney general, and Turner, the party's nominee for treasurer, were invited Wednesday by the Republican State Central and Executive Committee to present their sides of the controversy.

But State Chairman John Andrews told newsmen the party probably will withdraw support from both candidates unless they reveal something that "has been overlooked" at the meeting next Thursday.

He said this is the "fairest possible approach. If we don't have all the facts we're ready to listen."

Andrews said Herbert already had agreed to appear before the committee and Turner was expected to do likewise.

State Auditor Roger Cloud, the Republican nominee for governor, demanded that Herbert and Turner withdraw from the GOP ticket after it was learned the two candidates received campaign contributions from officers of Crofters, Inc. Both refused.

Crofters is the firm that obtained large unsecured loans for private companies from the state treasurer's office. Crofters reportedly received substantial "finders fees" for bringing the companies and state together.

A controversy erupted over the investments after it was disclosed by Cloud that the treasurer's office had loaned $12.8 million more than its legal limit to private companies.

Herbert received a $15,000 campaign contribution and Turner $7,500 from Crofters officers. Herbert said he returned the contribution made to him, while Turner said his was spent on the campaign.

Herbert said Wednesday he was not aware of the $15,000 gift at first because it had been his policy "not to know about campaign contributions."

Speaking out publicly on the controversy for the first time, Herbert told the Miamisburg Rotary Club he adopted the policy of keeping uninformed about contributions to avoid possible accusations of conflict of interest.

But he said the people handling the finances of his campaign "should have had better judgment."

Herbert said he has refused to withdraw from the GOP ticket in November because he feels he must restore public confidence in his qualifications for state office.

Suharto Sees U.S. Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indonesia's President Suharto, says the achievement of American and Vietnamese forces in Cambodia will help speed the Vietnamization process and also contribute to the speedy withdrawal of American forces from Southeast Asia.

He made the comment Wednesday night at an Indonesian embassy reception in his honor at the conclusion of a two-day state visit.

Before departing Thursday for New York and a meeting with U.N. Secretary General U Thant, the 48-year-old Indonesian leader said Indonesia joined with other Asian nations in asking that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Cambodia so that its neutrality can be restored.

The Indonesian leader arranged a farewell call with President Nixon before departing.

ing for New York.
Suharto's visit to the United States was judged a success by American authorities who did not seek to involve the neutral southeast Asian nations in the Cambodian conflict. But U.S. authorities reaffirmed the U.S. withdrawal from Cambodia by June 30.

Masheter OKs

Route Numbers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A journal entry Thursday by Highway Director P. E. Masheter makes official the route numbers assigned to two Ohio inter-state highway projects.

Routes involved are Interstate 480, northeasterly from I-80 west of Cleveland to I-60 southwest of Cleveland, and I-675, northeast from I-75 south of Dayton to I-70 southwest of Springfield.

The routing numbers will be posted on the roads and in official highway maps when the roadways are completed.

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stilled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guidance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son!

Suharto Sees U.S. Pullout

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indonesia's President Suharto, says the achievement of American and Vietnamese forces in Cambodia will help speed the Vietnamization process and also contribute to the speedy withdrawal of American forces from Southeast Asia.

He made the comment Wednesday night at an Indonesian embassy reception in his honor at the conclusion of a two-day state visit.

Before departing Thursday for New York and a meeting with U.N. Secretary General U Thant, the 48-year-old Indonesian leader said Indonesia joined with other Asian nations in asking that all foreign forces be withdrawn from Cambodia so that its neutrality can be restored.

The Indonesian leader arranged a farewell call with President Nixon before departing.

JIM WAS GRADUATED TODAY

Mary and I sat on the bleachers overlooking the high school athletic field and watched him march in with his class. A bird glided overhead, and, from far off, a dog's bark and children's voices mingled on the evening air. Behind circling hills, blue mountains made a stately backdrop.

Jim avoided our glance, the habitual grin he's worn since babyhood stilled for a moment in a gaze of earnest solemnity. His first big milestone had come, and I smiled to myself remembering his eagerness to embark upon the "world of tomorrow."

I have no fears for his future . . . for Jim is a Christian. What a wonderful assurance it is to his mother and me to know that wherever he goes, whatever happens in that wonderful "world" ahead, the values and principles he has been taught will be there to guide and sustain him.

How grateful we are to our church for the guidance and encouragement it has given us in the Christian education of our son!

These religious messages being published each week in The Circleville Herald are sponsored by the following interested individuals and business establishments:

Students, Administration 'Negotiate' Improvements

By MIKE VAUGHAN

Many changes have shape and reshaped Circleville High during the 1969-70 school year, but the alma mater has again survived the barrage of the poorer ideas while being strengthened by better changes.

The Red and Black's Student Council, now successfully completing its second year, has to be the biggest single factor in adding to the CHS character. The council took two big steps by "winning" the students a lounge in which to relax and take a minute off from a hectic school day and by suggesting a new exam privilege for seniors to the Board of Education. The council was also instrumental in presenting various assemblies and talks to the student body.

Another new addition to the Tiger den includes the Universal Gym Machine presented to CHS by the Stouge Club and the Circleville Booster Club. This shiny new piece of athletic equipment is a complete gym in itself and exercises every muscle in the body.

Circleville also added two new trophies to the ever growing trophy case this year coping the coveted SCOL championships in baseball and track for the first time in many seasons.

A first rate stage band, under the direction of William O'Neil, came into the CHS picture for the first time in 1969-70. The band captured the support of the students and of the public with their unique style. The music department also had their first "informal" choir concert this spring.

Also during the school year: —The administration adopted a more lenient dress policy allowing longer (and shorter) skirts, "decent and respectable haircuts," and bell-bottomed pants.

—Seniors at Circleville will have no commencement speaker for graduation for the first time to shorten the usually long and hot ceremony.

Juniors Hold Arabian Prom

The Junior and Senior Prom was held last Saturday evening from 8 - 12 in the high school gym. The junior class is to be congratulated for this well-planned event. Utilizing the theme of "Arabian Nights," they accented the Arabian setting with a genie, a fortune teller, a magic vase and an oasis.

During the evening, sophomore girls served punch and other refreshments provided by the Junior Class. Entertainment was provided by Lee Joffile and Karen Reid who sang and accompanied themselves on guitars. The dance band was the "We Four Quartet" from Cincinnati.

The hardworking group responsible for the successful prom was headed by Christy Dresbach, Junior Class prom chairman. She also had some very able assistance from many members of the class. Mrs. Jack Mader, junior adviser, also spent many hours for the past several weeks in working with all the many committees responsible for the preparation required in putting on the event.

After the prom the members of the Junior and Senior Classes with their guests were given an afterprom party held from 1 - 4 a.m. at the 4-H and Grange building. Entertainment was provided by "The Blue Sanctum."

—Students petitioned and were granted a senior assembly instead of a planned honor dinner.

—A possible outside commencement was vetoed by the seniors.

—Milk was raised a cent in the cafeteria to four cents.

—The Nuclei Science Club traveled to Canada to be the first group in the recent history of the high school to travel out of the country on a school-associated tour. The club also sponsored the first annual Snowball Dance.

—Circleville's first folk group, "The Cherished Folk," was started at the beginning of the year by Dale Hukill and Eileen England.

Our old alma mater has successfully weathered its fourth year in the "new" building meeting all challenges and changes and promises to continue their history of firsts for a long time to come.

Seniors Comment On Campus Riots

By VICKI RALSTON

A few seniors at CHS voiced their opinions about the current rioting of college students in universities throughout Ohio.

Dick Walters: "Student rioting accomplishes nothing. It defeats the students' whole purpose (except for those outside agitators who start the riots hoping to get the universities closed). I have heard that they riot because they are not old enough to voice their opinions by voting. Yet how do they expect to get that privilege through their violent action?"

Gail Sprenger: "I do not understand how students justify the burning of buildings and destruction of property just to prove a point or get demands."

John Simison: "I personally do not see any point in it. I only wish they would keep the demonstrations peaceful."

Bill Seum: "I am against it. All this is a disgrace to our country and our way of life."

Gerry Wharf: "All students that destroy valuable property or break laws should be arrested, heavily fined, and expelled from all schools of higher learning."

Warren Spangler: "I think the riots are uncalled for but people should be permitted to protest peacefully."

Jim Smith: "There is no reason for it. The students are there for an education, not rioting. The parents should help reorganize the colleges not help the students fight it."

Meg Ebert: "The students who cause trouble should be expelled."

Rick Weller: "I really do not care."

Kevin Miller: "I do not think it is good. Police should be taken off our campuses."

Donna Smallwood: "It is wrong. Our police should be given a lot of support and protection for their own safety. It will be too bad if the seniors cannot receive the vital credits needed for graduation."

Jerry Turnage: "I am against it. There is no purpose in rioting, it just makes things worse. The universities should be stricter on restless students."

Mary Beth Hughes: "I feel very sorry for some of these college students. They do not realize that they are tearing down what has taken many years to build up. In most cases, they do not give reasonable alternatives to the problems."

Dave Mogan: "The students should be there for an education. The National Guard should be sent armed and have the right to fire upon the aggressors if their life is being endangered by them."

Ann Ayers: "I would like to pass on the truest statements I have heard about the Kent

State killings. "There was no right and no wrong in this matter. No, correction: There was no right and all wrong." I cannot help but think that the echos of this tragedy will reach every home in this country. In some way or form, it will affect us all."

Kathy Wilson: "I think that student rioting is unnecessary. If a student doesn't like the rules of a certain college, then he or she should just not bother going there in the first place."

Ray Williams: "I do not think the students have any right to demand negotiations. They should let the administration run the college in the best way they know how. If they don't like the way the colleges are run they should find somewhere else to go. Rioting does not solve anything."

Krista Clifton: "Rioting does not solve anything it only causes trouble. If students disagree with the way the college rules or classes are set up then go to the administration or the student government and talk peacefully to them about it. As long as students are going to act up and riot then I feel the police and guards should be called in to protect the innocent students who are going to college for educational purposes."

Carolyn Wilson: "Foolishness! I would not back a child of mine with funds if he were taking part in the riots."

Dave Haradon: "The principles are good but the methods of obtaining them are disgraceful and should not be tolerated."

Norman Burmaster: "I agree with most of their ideas but the violence is bad."

Randy Halley: "I think it is a very poor way to go about getting demands met."

Mary Housh: "They are trying to say something but are going about it in the wrong way."

Alan Kreiger: "The rioters are hypocritical. They ask the right to 'do their thing' but then they do not allow others (ROTC) to take part in something they enjoy and back. They say 'peace' while burning down buildings. People should realize how badly they contradict themselves."

Ann Guenther: "I am for peaceful demands but when things get out of hand law enforcement agencies should come in."

These students are in the unique position of being among next year's freshman college classes and are deciding now what course they will take when and if rioting occurs again next year. Do you agree with their opinions?

Students Observe Fashion Changes

By DEBBIE MOORE

Every year some things "go out" and others "come in" on the fashion scene.

Necklaces came in for girls and boys. The snake collar, a circle of wire with a charm, was popular with the girls. Chokers, made with Indian beads on elastic string, were worn by girls and boys.

Thanks to Mrs. Rickey's home economic classes, crocheted vests brightened up a lot of outfits at CHS.

With the revised dress code, hemlines have gone to new lengths. Along with minis, several girls have taken advantage of the new freedom by wearing maxis.

Wigs have become a common sight, giving girls a greater variety in hairstyles.

Flared pants made their appearance on some boys, but good old jeans have remained the favorite. Pumas and Adidas, which are not animals, but brightly colored track shoes, are "making it" with the boys too.

Girls shoes were borogee. They have been criticized as looking "clunky" but at least they were comfortable.

Students Rank Top Teachers

By NANCY MARSHALL

A recent survey was made among seniors to find out which teachers rated highest among them. The top ten teachers are Mrs. Charles Boggs, Wallace Higgins, John Lawhorn, Mrs. Paul Wachs, Mrs. Truman Eberly, Mrs. George Breegle, Don Poling, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Kelly Boyer, Miss Meg Bower.

Concerning Mrs. Boggs one student said, "Never before have I had a teacher who was truly interested in the younger generation and their problems. She spoke on my level and I could actually tell her things knowing I'd receive an honest answer."

A CHS student commented about Mr. Higgins: "He really made world history interesting. It appeared as though the student was really a part of it."

Next on the list was John Lawhorn. One person from his class said, "Mr. Lawhorn has a new type of teaching method. He makes class fun, interesting and students learn a lot, too!"

About Mrs. Helen Wachs one student stated that she treats all students equally, has everyone's respect and maintains a class where one can learn much.

Mrs. Velma Eberly is liked by everyone. Students say that Mrs. Eberly is very considerate and will go out of her way to help everyone.

About Mrs. Winifred Breegle a student stated, "She tries to help you individually if you don't understand something."

Also very popular at CHS is Don Poling. One student said, "Mr. Poling trusts his students to such a degree that no one would ever want to cheat in his class."

According to one student Kelly Boyer is "a top-notch math teacher."

When questioned about Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, a student replied, "She is very understanding and is always willing to help the students."

A new teacher this year is Miss Meg Bower. It is said that besides being very nice, she also makes her class interesting though difficult.

The three hot prospects running close behind the top ten were Mrs. Loid Brobst, James Lint and William O'Neil.

Living Standards Overseas Help Boost Farm Exports

Farm products from Ohio such as wheat and corn are often shipped overseas, to the far East, Europe and Latin America.

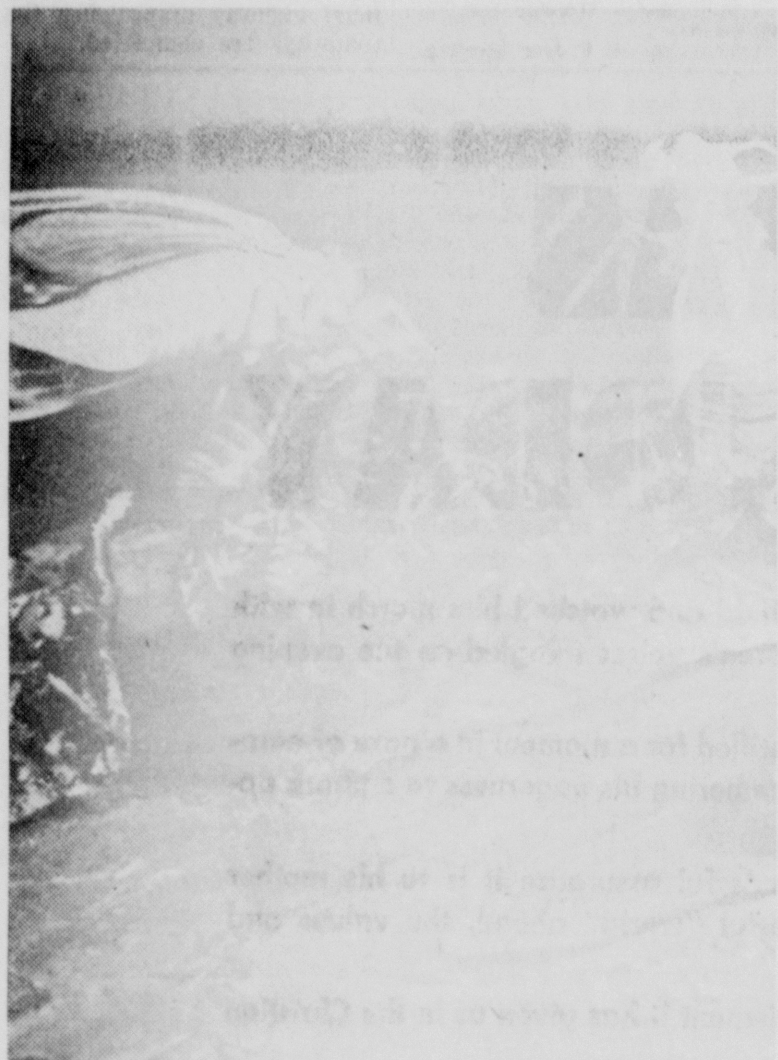

Expansion of farm exports is increasingly important because efficiency of American farmers is so great present markets cannot utilize all the food and fiber which is produced. As a result, the full agricultural potential of America is still unrealized. George E. Stump, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said today.

17-Year Locust Have Emerged

ADULT EMERGES — This photograph shows the adult 17-year locust just after it has emerged from its brown nymphal skin. Pickaway County previously has an infestation of the locusts.

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

The past few days the 17-year locust have emerged in Pickaway County. The large, brown nymphs have emerged from the soil and are crawling onto tree trunks, posts, and plants, or other insect structures. They then shed their brown skin. The empty skin is left clinging to the object.

The adult is about 1-1/2 inches long and has a black body with reddish eyes, legs, and wings. Toward the outer edge of the front wings there is a black "W" marking.

About a week after becoming an adult the female is mated and a few days later she begins laying eggs.

To lay eggs the female uses her knife-like organ called an ovipositor, at the tip of the abdomen, to slit or puncture small twigs. In these slits she lays a number of eggs. A single female may make from five to 20 egg-laying slits and deposit as many as 400 to 600 eggs.

THE eggs hatch in about six weeks at which time the young nymphs drop to the ground, burrow into the soil, and attach to a suitable root. Here they remain, sucking sap from roots of trees and the shrubs for the next 17 years.

Most of the adults emerge during a relatively short time and will probably be present until early July. The adults will live for four to six weeks. Upon emergence, they collect in swarms and fly from tree to tree or from area to area for distances of up to a half mile from the site of emergence.

Their presence is made known by the high pitched sounds of the males as they vibrate a membrane on the first abdominal segment beneath the wings. Actually, there are three different species of the 17-year cicada, and they can be distinguished by the sound of the male or by differences in coloration.

Small trees, shrubs, and ornamentals can be protected by covering them with open weaved cloth such as muslin, mosquito netting, or fine mesh shade cloth; however, netting is best. Put the cloth in place as soon as the first cicadas begin to appear. It should remain there until most of them have died.

Leave the cloth protection loose enough to allow for plant growth and sunlight. However, be sure there are no gaps or openings in the covering for females to enter and to lay eggs.

If you do not plan to use netting, spray pruning until the cicadas have disappeared. The most of the injured branches can be removed.

THAT tree protection can be done by using carbaryl (Sevin), at two treatments of the 50 per cent wettable powder per gallon of water. It is effective in controlling the adult of the periodical cicada.

Apply carbaryl when the adults first begin to emerge from their nymphal skins or as soon as they begin singing. Although this treatment will reduce the number of adults in the immediate area, swarms of adults from other areas can quickly replace your orchard. Repeat applications of carbaryl at five to seven day intervals.

Homeowners may use carbaryl (Sevin) to protect their trees and shrubs. Use two tablespoons of the 50 per cent wettable powder per gallon of water. It is as effective as described previously. If you use Sevin, apply it about once a week. Do not apply to plants to bloom as Sevin is toxic to pollinating insects.

Police Given Moscot

SEATTLE (AP) — Supporters of the Seattle Police Department presented officers with a mascot Wednesday, a pink and white pig. The 2-week-old pig, named Pops, was a gift from the city and a blazer proclaiming "Pops is Beautiful." Officers were told Pops stands for "pride, integrity, and love."

Early Action Assures Quick ASC Payments

Pickaway County farmers who are taking part in the feed grain and wheat programs are being reminded that early compliance and early certification will mean early payments this year.

George E. Stump, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said that while farmers should certify compliance as soon as possible, they also must understand that acreage certifications are not to be made until they know they are in compliance with all program regulations.

When a participant in a 1970 farm program certifies compliance, he certifies accurately to acreages in the program crops and to diversified acreage. He also certifies that he has complied with conserving base provisions, with regulations that apply if he has an interest in more than one farm, that the diverted acres on his farm are devoted to an approved conserving use, and that all other program requirements have been met.

As soon as a program participant certifies the County ASCS Office begins processing papers for his full payment for 1970 program participation. Payments to producers will begin in July and are expected to be completed by the end of August — the earliest date ever set for completion of program payments.

After a farm has been certified to be in compliance with farm programs, it may be checked at any time to determine if any errors were made in certification. If errors are found, the producer will be determined to have not fully complied and may lose some or all of his farm program payments.

Stump said the County ASCS Office has received instructions to keep up to date on farm control checks.

A substantial number of farms in the county will be selected at random for these checks. Also, every farm in which an ASC Official has an interest will be checked.

"Generally, the percentage of errors found is quite small and usually the result of carelessness or misunderstanding. We hope this year to find fewer certification mistakes than ever before," the ASC Committee Chairman said.

Herbicides Are Popular Item When It Comes To Corn Production

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Herbicides are a popular item when it comes to corn production. There are many herbicides on specific situations where they work satisfactorily; however, 2, 4-D is still the most widely used herbicide on the market. The type of weed problem largely determines the type of herbicide to use.

In many ways, 2, 4-D approaches the ideal weed killer. It is effective at low rates on many weeds, highly selective, nontoxic to animals, non-flammable, noncorrosive to equipment, relatively inexpensive and easy to apply.

In Ohio climate, 2, 4-D will not accumulate in the soil or affect it unfavorably. It is decomposed in the soil in 15 to 60 days; however, under dry conditions it may remain toxic all season or longer. Soil microorganisms, insects, farm animals, and humans are unaffected by 2, 4-D except at rates far in excess of those normally recommended for herbicidal purposes.

2, 4-D is an extremely potent compound. One tablespoonful can damage an acre of tomatoes. The following precaution should be observed in using 2, 4-D.

Herbicides Are Popular Item When It Comes To Corn Production

Apply 2, 4-D at recommended rates.

Do not apply 2, 4-D near susceptible crops on windy days.

When applying liquid 2, 4-D use low pressures (not over 30 to 40 pounds) to obtain a coarse spray, and nozzles designed to produce droplets, not mists.

Keep sprayer nozzles and granular spreaders the minimum required distances from the ground, and do not apply on large areas within several hundred feet of sensitive crops, such as tomatoes, grapes, tobacco, cotton, most vegetables, flowers and ornamentals.

Use the amine salts unless the esters are recommended. Most granular formulations of 2, 4-D are composed of low volatile esters.

DO not use 2, 4-D contaminated equipment to apply fungicides, insecticides or other materials on 2, 4-D susceptible plants.

The ester formulations of 2, 4-D are generally the most toxic to plants. The esters are more effective than the other forms of 2, 4-D under dry conditions, on hard-to-kill plants and under adverse conditions generally.

Rain, even when it occurs immediately after treatment, does not materially alter the effectiveness of the esters. The amines are washed off plants readily.

Under favorable conditions the amount of time needed for absorption of the amines in toxic amount varies from about 1 to 6 hours, depending on the susceptibility of the species. Less 2, 4-D, regardless of formulation, is absorbed in cool weather (about 50 per cent or lower). Plants that are treated in cool weather may not respond until the temperature rises, or not at all.

"Leaf roll" is one of the first symptoms of 2, 4-D injury to corn. Leaf roll usually develops within 3 days on injured plants. Leaf roll is not serious, but it may be followed by "anion leaf." In this condition the upper leaves usually remain tightly rolled with the edges grown together. Where this prevents normal emergence of the tassel, the yield may be reduced, and where seed is grown for hybrid seed, detasseling may be difficult.

2, 4-D makes rapidly growing corn brittle and it may be broken when harvested or struck by machinery. The yield is not greatly reduced. Corn of this type may be broken when harvested or struck by machinery. The yield is not greatly reduced. Corn of this type may be broken when harvested or struck by machinery. abnormal brace roots greatly increased in size and number or growing in an upward direction are common, but in most instances these have not resulted in lower yields. Shorter, slower growth is a common result of too much 2, 4-D.

Charolais Classic To Have Beef Clinic For Housewives

Housewives who want to find out what it takes to produce a fine steak should attend a clinic at the 3rd Annual North American Charolais Classic at the Ohio Exposition Center, June 5-6.

Norman Godden, owner of G&H Research Farms, Route 4, assistant chairman of the classic, is in charge of the clinic.

All aspects dealing with the production of beef, including a demonstration on how the retail cuts of meat are processed and presented to the housewife will be discussed.

The clinic will be on Friday, June 5, in Cooper Arena, as part of the Charolais Show and Sale.

Premiums valued at $10,000 will be awarded at the show and 65 Charolais cattle have been consigned to the sale by breeders from 13 states.

Dr. Robert Van Stavern, meat specialist at Ohio State University's Animal Science Department, will conduct an actual carcass demonstration and cut out.

Richard Falter, president of the Village Packing Co., Columbus, will also participate in the demonstration that will enlighten the housewife on meat and its production.

Others on the clinic program will be Dean Roy Kottmar of the OSU College of Agriculture; Harry Vallery, of Waverly, O.; and Dr. Russell Reed, extension beef cattle specialist at OSU.

The classic's show will start at 1 p.m. Saturday, June 6, and be followed by the sale at 4 p.m., which will feature 65 top female animals, both French and domestic.

A post-sale dance will conclude the two-day meeting at the Neil House.

CHS Teachers Give Opinions Of Journalism Staff's Work

By DIANE MILLER and
RICK WITHERS

Several teachers were asked their opinions of the 1969-1970 Red and Black editions. Their responses were:

Mr. Brooke — "It's the only part of the paper I read faithfully every Friday. I like the sports and club sections best."

Mrs. Wilson — "Red and Black is really good. It gave a good account of happenings in school."

Mr. Stewart — "Fine and interesting."

Mrs. Tarbill — "I've enjoyed it a lot more since I know the kids."

Mrs. Brobst — "I think the interviews are better this year. People want to know what's going on and what people think of things. Red and Black does this."

Mr. Brudzinski — "Very good. It gives the public an idea of what is going on with the younger generation at CHS."

Mr. Spring — "Well done. Very well edited, interesting, covers new things very well."

Mr. Fisher — "Red and Black has done a very good job interpreting things but a school newspaper is needed to distribute in school."

Mrs. Rose — "I've liked it. It's very interesting and lets me know what's going on."

Mrs. Fischer — "I read the Red and Black page every Friday and enjoy it very much. I enjoy the club interviews and any awards received by students."

Miss Bower — "I liked it and looked forward to reading it."

Miss Taylor — "I read the Red and Black every Friday and enjoy it very much."

Mr. Shull — "I enjoy reading about the teachers very much. You don't get to know about their backgrounds working with them everyday. Some of their backgrounds interest me!"

Mr. Lint — "I like it. It's written well, it's interesting and very good. Very informative to the public about what is happening at CHS."

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — The wives of 16 National Guardsmen, accompanied by some children, picketed the army here Thursday urging that their husbands be sent home from duty in the Ohio State University area.

Guard officials said they sympathize with the women. The Urbana unit has been called up three times this month — twice at Ohio State and once at Ohio University. The men were released from duty late Thursday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount says talk about a divided Nixon cabinet is "a lot of malarkey" by a news media biased against the administration.

"They are strong individual people," Blount said of his nine colleagues who with himself, make up President Nixon's Cabinet.

Blount said in an interview

the news media has inaccurately pictured the cabinet as sharply divided over Cambodia and placed an "extreme overemphasis" on speeches by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while underplaying demonstrations of support for the President's war policies.

He also contended the Nixon administration has not only listened to young people, but has done a great deal for them in the way of draft reform and efforts to seek limitations of nuclear weapons.

Blount, a staunch supporter of Nixon's Cambodian policy, said the administration has an obligation to explain its decisions about Indochina to young people, whose "depth of feeling is extremely impressive." But he added:

"If the decision goes against you, you can't say, 'they didn't listen to me because they didn't do what I wanted.'"

Turning to news coverage, Blount said "the role of the media is to dig for information for its readers. Generally, I think it does a fine job."

But when the media covers the administration, he said, "it seems to tip the balance wheel a little. It begins to let its bias show."

One example, Blount said, is "the extreme overemphasis by the media on the vice president's speeches... it doesn't seem to want to take things in context."

"The vice president's main criticism of the media is of lack of balance," he said. "But the media rants and raves when the vice president makes a speech."

"SOFT CELL"—Beverly Acosta, injured severely and handicapped in an auto accident, cuddles the kitten sent to her in Garden City, Mich., by the 99 men who belong to the Jaycee chapter at Southern Michigan State Prison in Jackson. They figure she deserves "the full rights and privileges" of honorary membership. They also sent her toys, painted pictures of animals and clowns. The "hard cell" Jaycees went "soft cell" when they read about her in a newspaper.

4-H Club News

Hurray! 4-H camp starts soon. All you 4-H'ers do not want to miss the fun and fellowship, so read carefully. This year we have four camps designed for each of you. Last year over three hundred and fifty 4-H'ers from Pickaway County attended camp so you won't be left alone without a friend or someone you know.

Beginners Camp — June 23-26 — for 4-H'ers who are ten years old or in the fourth grade and have never been to 4-H camp before.

Junior Camp — June 29-July 3 or July 14-18 — for 4-H'ers ages 11 through 13.

Senior Camp — June 12-15 — for 14 years and older 4-H'ers.

All these camps are held at the Tar Hollow Group Camp in the Tar Hollow State Park.

4-H camp offers every 4-H'er an opportunity to make new friends, learn about conservation, and to enjoy himself. Athletics include basketball, volleyball, football, softball, baseball, shuffleboard, ping pong, badminton, dancing, and most importantly, swimming and boating. Also in the program is good food, campfire, and vespers and crafts.

Send your reservations, money, and health card to the Extension Office today. Let us all go to camp and make friends.

Loan Maturity Dates Are Near

Loan maturity dates are nearing for 1969-crop corn and soybeans under Government price-support loans that the Stump, Chairman of the Pickaway Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, has reported. He reminded growers who have 1969-crops eligible for price-support loans that the deadline for requesting such loans is one month before the loan maturity date for the crop involved. Requests should be made at the County ASC Office.

Loan maturity dates for 1969 crops are as follows:

June 30 — Soybeans. Loans may be requested through the end of May. However, Mr. Stump reminded growers that since the County ASC Office will be closed on May 31, loans may be requested through June 1.

July 31 — Corn. Loans may be requested through June 30.

Loan support level for 1969-crop corn in Pickaway County is $1.11 per bushel and for 1969-crop soybeans, $2.22 per bushel. These support levels are based on the national average loan rate.

97,000 Acres In Feed Grain Base Locally

Total feed grain base and wheat allotment acres in Pickaway County in the 1970 farm programs are 97,789, according to George Stump, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Of this total, some 38,997 acres will be diverted from grain production and into uses which conserve the soil. Producers participating in the feed grain and wheat programs earn payments in return for limiting production, Stump explained.

They also are eligible for price-support loans on the wheat and feed grain they do produce. Purpose of these programs is to stabilize production of these essential crops at a point which will provide a fair return to farmers on their marketings, and an adequate supply for consumers, the ASC Committee Chairman said.

"The farmers of this country could produce far more wheat and feed grain than they could possibly sell, far more, in fact than could be transported, processed and consumed, even if the farmer gave it away."

"So some form of incentive is needed to encourage farmers to forego production of so-called surplus. The present programs are voluntary and offer incentives in the form of payments and loans to cooperating farmers," Stump said.

In Pickaway County, some 1584 farms with feed grain bases totaling 199,332 acres and 1423 farms with wheat allotments of 33,181 acres were eligible for the 1970 farm programs.

Nationally, 1,612,961 farms with feed grain bases totaling 92,527,543 acres and 949,151 farms with wheat allotments of 40,226,644 acres were enrolled in the voluntary programs — about 70 per cent of the eligible feed grain acreage and about 69 per cent of the national wheat allotment acreage.

Pickaway County had 895 farms enrolled in the feed grain program with bases totaling 92,527,543 acres and 949,151 farms participating in the wheat program with allotments of over 40,226,644 acres. Percentage wise, Pickaway County with 93 per cent of the wheat allotment acreage enrolled, was the highest in the state.

ASC Records Microfilmed

Whatever damage might be done by fire, flood or tornado, vital farm records maintained in each County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) Office can be reassembled.

All basic records are microfilmed and the films are stored in locations other than the county office where the farm records are maintained.

"This precaution is going to prove of great value to the ASCS county office in Lubbock, Texas, which recently received extensive tornado damage, including farm records getting completely soaked. The microfilms are going to be an essential help in reconstituting those records," Pickaway County ASCS Committee Chairman George E. Stump said.

Stump said farmers know that the ASCS records on farm program participation, crop history, payments and other items pertaining to their farms are important to their farming operation.

"The importance of these records to farmers and to ASCS is such that just to be on the safe side microfilming is done regularly as a precaution against loss or damage of the original records," he said.

Home Agent Tips

By Marjorie Wolford

Home Economics Agent

Poor food-handling practices in the home often cause illness in the family, even though the foods were safe to eat when purchased or first prepared.

Lack of sanitation, insufficient cooking and improper storage can allow bacteria in food to increase to dangerous levels. Some bacteria produce poisonous substances called toxins that cause illness when the food is eaten.

Outbreaks of illness from food contamination by harmful bacteria are especially common during hot summer months when perishable foods are served on picnics and cookouts without proper refrigeration. If you are planning a picnic for Memorial Day, protect your family from illness by following good food handling practices.

The most important single factor affecting the outcome of your picnic is menu selection. Bacteria-producing bacteria enter certain types of food, particularly those high in protein and moisture — such as milk, milk products, eggs, meat, poultry, fish and such products as cream pies, custards and potato salad. After preparation, these foods must be kept either hot or cold. Hot is 140 degrees F. or above. Cold is 40 degrees F. or below. Temperatures between degrees and 140 degrees F. are unsafe for perishables. Disease from foodborne illness by preparing, cooking, and serving foods. If you follow this advice, chances are the worst thing you'll suffer from your picnic is sore muscles, sunburn, or poison ivy!

Ex-Ministers Are Arrested In Ireland

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Two former government ministers fired earlier this month on suspicion of involvement in an arms smuggling plot, were arrested today and charged with conspiring to import arms.

They were released on bail of $2,400 each.

Both men had earlier denied any part in procuring illegally imported arms for the Catholics in Northern Ireland.

The two men are former Finance Minister Charles Haughey and Agriculture Minister Neil Blaney. Three other men were arrested Wednesday on charges of conspiring to import arms.

The dismissal of Haughey and Blaney on May 5 touched off a crisis for Prime Minister Jack Lynch's government, but Lynch managed to unite his Fianna Fail party and win two votes of confidence in the Irish Parliament.

The arrests of the two men appeared likely to inflame the emotional issue once again.

The reported arms plot struck at the heart of the most passionate political issue in Ireland, reunification of the Roman Catholic republic with the Protestant-dominated British province of Northern Ireland.

Student Finds His Thesis In Garbage

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — J. Mark Baird spent five years working toward a doctorate, then had to do some frantic last-minute research in the city dump to salvage his thesis.

Baird submitted his dissertation, "Feasibility Study of Space-charged Waves, Amplification in Periodically Doped Semi-conductors," to the University of Utah printing department.

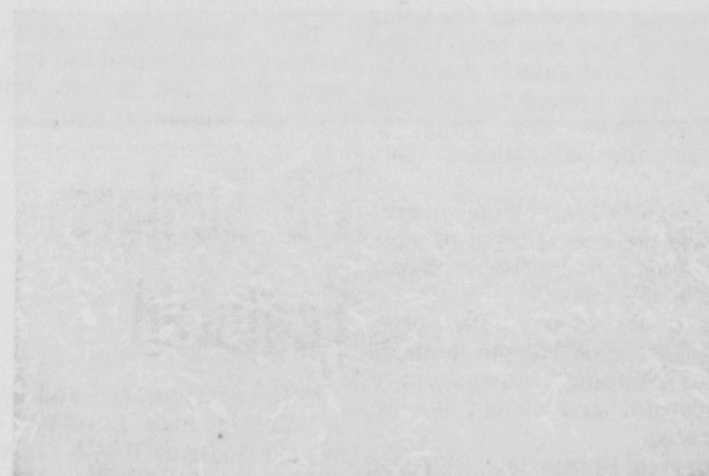

Then it was discovered the thesis was missing.

A hurried check showed that the printed copies had been placed too close to a trash collection area at the press, and carried off by the garbage collector.

Baird tracked the truck to city dump, sifted through stacks of garbage and came up with 39 crumpled copies of his thesis — and one copy with all 154 pages intact.

He's to receive his PhD. June 5.

Students, Administration 'Negotiate' Improvements

By MIKE VAUGHAN

Many changes have shape and reshaped Circleville High during the 1969-70 school year, but the alma mater has again survived the barrage of the poorer ideas while being strengthened by better changes.

The Red and Black's Student Council, now successfully completing its second year, has to be the biggest single factor in adding to the CHS character. The council took two big steps by "winning" the students a lounge in which to relax and take a minute off from a hectic school day and by suggesting a new exam privilege for seniors to the Board of Education. The council was also instrumental in presenting various assemblies and talks to the student body.

Another new addition to the Tiger den includes the Universal Gym Machine presented to CHS by the Stooze Club and the Circleville Booster Club. This shiny new piece of athletic equipment is a complete gym in itself and exercises every muscle in the body.

Circleville also added two new trophies to the ever growing trophy case this year copping the coveted SCOL championships in baseball and track for the first time in many seasons.

A first rate stage band, under the direction of William O'Neil, came into the CHS picture for the first time in 1969-70. The band captured the support of the students and of the public with their unique style. The music department also had their first "informal" choir concert this spring.

Also during the school year: —The administration adopted a more lenient dress policy allowing longer (and shorter) skirts, "decent and respectable" haircuts, and bell-bottomed pants.

—Seniors at Circleville will have no commencement speaker for graduation for the first time to shorten the usually long and hot ceremony.

Juniors Hold Arabian Prom

The Junior and Senior Prom was held last Saturday evening from 8-12 in the high school gym. The junior class is to be congratulated for this well-planned event. Utilizing the theme of "Arabian Nights," they accented the Arabian setting with a genie, a fortune teller, a magic vase and an oasis.

During the evening, sophomore girls served punch and other refreshments provided by the Junior Class. Entertainment was provided by Lee Jolliffe and Karen Reid who sang and accompanied themselves on guitars. The dance band was the "We Four Quartet" from Cincinnati.

The hardworking group responsible for the successful prom was headed by Christy Dresbach, Junior Class prom chairman. She also had some very able assistance from many members of the class. Mrs. Jack Mader, junior adviser, also spent many hours for the past several weeks in working with all the many committees responsible for the preparation required in putting on the event.

After the prom the members of the Junior and Senior Classes with their guests were given an afterprom party held from 1-4 a.m. at the 4-H and Grange building. Entertainment was provided by "The Blue Sanctum."

—Students petitioned and were granted a senior assembly instead of a planned honor dinner.

—A possible outside commencement was vetoed by the seniors.

—Milk was raised a cent in the cafeteria to four cents.

—The Nuclei Science Club traveled to Canada to be the first group in the recent history of the high school to travel out of the country on a school-associated tour. The club also sponsored the first annual Snowball Dance.

—Circleville's first folk group, "The Cherished Folk," was started at the beginning of the year by Dale Hukill and Eileen England.

Our old alma mater has successfully weathered its fourth year in the "new" building meeting all challenges and changes and promises to continue their history of firsts for a long time to come.

Seniors Comment On Campus Riots

By VICKI RALSTON

A few seniors at CHS voiced their opinions about the current rioting of college students in universities throughout Ohio.

Dick Walters: "Student rioting accomplishes nothing. It defeats the students' whole purpose (except for those outside agitators who start the riots hoping to get the universities closed). I have heard that they riot because they are not old enough to voice their opinions by voting. Yet how do they expect to get that privilege through their violent action?"

Gail Sprenger: "I do not understand how students justify the burning of buildings and destruction of property just to prove a point or get demands."

John Simison: "I personally do not see any point in it. I only wish they would keep the demonstrations peaceful."

Bill Seum: "I am against it. All this is a disgrace to our country and our way of life."

Gerry Wharf: "All students that destroy valuable property or break laws should be arrested, heavily fined, and expelled from all schools of higher learning."

Warren Spangler: "I think the riots are uncalled for but people should be permitted to protest peacefully."

Jim Smith: "There is no reason for it. The students are there for an education, not rioting. The parents should help reorganize the colleges not help the students fight it."

Meg Ebert: "The students who cause trouble should be expelled."

Rick Weller: "I really do not care."

Kevin Miller: "I do not think it is good. Police should be taken off our campuses."

Donna Smallwood: "It is wrong. Our police should be given a lot of support and protection for their own safety. It will be too bad if the seniors cannot receive the vital credits needed for graduation."

Jerry Turnage: "I am against it. There is no purpose in rioting, it just makes things worse. The universities should be stricter on restless students."

Mary Beth Hughes: "I feel very sorry for some of these college students. They do not realize that they are tearing down what has taken many years to build up. In most cases, they do not give reasonable alternatives to the problems."

Dave Mogan: "The students should be there for an education. The National Guard should be sent armed and have the right to fire upon the aggressors if their life is being endangered by them."

Ann Ayers: "I would like to pass on the truest statements I have heard about the Kent

State killings. "There was no right and no wrong in this matter. No, correction: There was no right and all wrong. I cannot help but think that the echos of this tragedy will reach every home in this country. In some way or form, it will affect us all."

Kathy Wilson: "I think that student rioting is unnecessary. If a student doesn't like the rules of a certain college, then he or she should just not bother going there in the first place."

Ray Williams: "I do not think the students have any right to demand negotiations. They should let the administration run the college in the best way they know how. If they don't like the way the colleges are run they should find somewhere else to go. Rioting does not solve anything."

Krista Clifton: "Rioting does not solve anything it only causes trouble. If students disagree with the way the college rules or classes are set up then go to the administration or the student government and talk peacefully to them about it. As long as students are going to act up and riot then I feel the police and guards should be called in to protect the innocent students who are going to college for educational purposes."

Carolyn Wilson: "Foolishness! I would not back a child of mine with funds if he were taking part in the riots."

Dave Haradon: "The principles are good but the methods of obtaining them are disgraceful and should not be tolerated."

Norman Burmaster: "I agree with most of their ideas but the violence is bad."

Randy Halley: "I think it is a very poor way to go about getting demands met."

Mary Housh: "They are trying to say something but are going about it in the wrong way."

Alan Kreiger: "The rioters are hypocritical. They ask the right to 'do their thing' but then they do not allow others (ROTC) to take part in something they enjoy and back. They say 'peace' while burning down buildings. People should realize how badly they contradict themselves."

Ann Guenther: "I am for peaceful demands but when things get out of hand law enforcement agencies should come in."

These students are in the unique position of being among next year's freshman college classes and are deciding now what course they will take when and if rioting occurs again next year. Do you agree with their opinions?

Students Observe Fashion Changes

By DEBBIE MOORE

Every year some things "go out" and others "come in" on the fashion scene.

Necklaces came in for girls and boys. The snake collar, a circle of wire with a charm, was popular with the girls. Chokers, made with Indian beads on elastic string, were worn by girls and boys.

Thanks to Mrs. Rickey's home economic classes, crocheted vests brightened up a lot of outfits at CHS.

With the revised dress code, hemlines have gone to new lengths. Along with minis, several girls have taken advantage of the new freedom by wearing maxis.

Wigs have become a common sight, giving girls a greater variety in hairstyles.

Flared pants made their appearance on some boys, but good old jeans have remained the favorite. Pumas and Adidas, which are not animals, but brightly colored track shoes, are "making it" with the boys too.

Girls shoes were borogue. They have been criticized as looking "clunky" but at least they were comfortable.

Students Rank Top Teachers

By NANCY MARSHALL

A recent survey was made among seniors to find out which teachers rated highest among them. The top ten teachers are Mrs. Charles Boggs, Wallace Higgins, John Lawhorn, Mrs. Paul Wachs, Mrs. Truman Eberly, Mrs. George Breegle, Don Poling, Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, Kelly Boyer, Miss Meg Bower.

Concerning Mrs. Boggs one student said, "Never before have I had a teacher who was truly interested in the younger generation and their problems. She spoke on my level and I could actually tell her things knowing I'd receive an honest answer."

A CHS student commented about Mr. Higgins: "He really made world history interesting. It appeared as though the student was really a part of it."

Next on the list was John Lawhorn. One person from his class said, "Mr. Lawhorn has a new type of teaching method. He makes class fun, interesting and students learn a lot, too!"

About Mrs. Helen Wachs one student stated that she treats all students equally, has everyone's respect and maintains a class where one can learn much.

Mrs. Velma Eberly is liked by everyone. Students say that Mrs. Eberly is very considerate and will go out of her way to help everyone.

About Mrs. Winifred Breegle a student stated, "She tries to help you individually if you don't understand something."

Also very popular at CHS is Don Poling. One student said, "Mr. Poling trusts his students to such a degree that no one would ever want to cheat in his class."

According to one student Kelly Boyer is "a top-notch math teacher."

When questioned about Mrs. Mary Alice Greenwood, a student replied, "She is very understanding and is always willing to help the students."

A new teacher this year is Miss Meg Bower. It is said that besides being very nice, she also makes her class interesting though difficult.

The three hot prospects running close behind the top ten were Mrs. Loid Brobst, James Lint and William O'Neil.

Westfall Mustangs Edge Unioto Nine, 5-2

CO-CHAMPS — Coach Paul Hoskins and his Westfall Mustangs are co-champions of the Scioto Valley Conference. The youthful club has one senior and 19 freshmen and sophomores which should give the Mustangs a bright future. They defeated Unioto, 5-2, Thursday for a share of the Scioto Valley Conference title. Both teams finished the season with conference records of 9-3. Westfall ended the season with an overall record of 14-6.

Win Gives Share Of SVC Crown

John Valone's big double in the eighth inning scored two Mustangs and enabled Westfall to beat Unioto, 5-2, Thursday for a share of the Scioto Valley Conference title.

Replaying the tie game with Unioto the Mustangs needed a win and the youthful Westfall did just that at the Veterans Administration Field at Chillicothe.

Greg Bigam went all the way for the Mustangs and came up with his seventh win of the season against two losses.

He walked three, struck out seven and was only in trouble in the third inning when a single, triple and sacrifice fly plated two runs for the Mustangs.

UNIOTO'S pitching ace, Arlen Bailey, was on the mound fanning four and walking two as he went the distance.

Westfall came up with five runs on 10 hits and committed two errors. The Mustangs scored two runs with nine hits and made one miscue.

Playing with the poise and determination of true champions, the Mustangs broke in front, fell behind, pulled even and refusing to panic, took the Sherman into extra innings to win.

After a scoreless first inning, the Mustangs broke into the lead in the second.

Steve Bailey reached first on a fielders' choice and promptly stole second. Doug McKay rapped a single and Bailey tore up the base paths getting home with the first Westfall run. The narrow margin held up until the third when the Mustangs came up with their only real threat putting everything together for two markers.

THE score remained 2-1 until the sixth frame. Bigam opened the inning with a single and moved to second on a one bagger by Bailey. Mike Sines laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt to move the runners to second and third, where Bigam scored on a wild pitch to knot the game at 2-2.

Neither team scored in the seventh and the battle continued into the eighth stanza.

Bigam again opened the top of the inning with a smashing double. Bailey singled to move Bigam to third where he was caught in a run down on Mike Sines fielders choice.

Sines and Bailey moved up in the run down and Valone followed with the big double to plate both runners. Joe Clem singled to score Valone and this was all the Mustangs needed as the Shermans failed to score in the last of the eighth.

Mike Sines should be singled out for some fine defensive work at third base coming up with several fine plays to help keep the Shermans in check.

Coach Paul Hoskins and his young men deserve a world of credit for bringing the share of the title back to Pickaway County. They started the season as a bunch of inexperienced players and developed into champions.

Deer Creek Fishing Opens

Deer Creek Reservoir will be opened for the harvest of all species of fish on June 1, 1970. This 1,277 acre Reservoir has been closed to the taking of bass, muskie and northern pike but on June 1, the angler can keep these species.

Recently the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife test netted Deer Creek Reservoir and found an excellent fishery to be present. Black and white crappies up to 14 inches, channel catfish ranging between 15 and 24 inches, walleyes averaging 18 inches and good sized bluegill are awaiting the angler.

Many recent reports of 20 to 35 crappies in a single creel have been received by the Division of Wildlife. Most local anglers maintain that the crappie fishing has just got off to a good start at Deer Creek Reservoir.

We would like to congratulate Coach Danny Fouts and the Circleville Tigers for adding another trophy to the Red and Black trophy case.

It was a job well done by a fine bunch of young men and added to Coach Jim Lint's track team trophy gives us a fine spring sports season.

Although Coach Steve Brudzinski's golf squad didn't win it all they had a good season and were always a credit to themselves and the school . . . Who knows? . . . A couple of putts here and there could have meant another trophy.

We had an interesting visitor Tuesday. Gordy Coleman of the Cincinnati Reds dropped in and spent some time with us. He is the former Red first baseman and now the director of the speakers bureau for the Reds.

If you ever need a speaker for one of your organizations Coleman is the man to contact.

Stan Musial's advice to young hitters . . . Take a comfortable stance . . . Be yourself and don't try to copy anyone. To hit well you must feel natural at the plate.

You must always be aggressive as a hitter and you must always try to hit strikes unless you have orders to take the pitch. If you don't swing at good strikes the pitcher has you where he wants you and the first thing you know you will be swinging at his pitch.

Our little gem of information — The Astro Turf in the new Cincinnati Riverfront Stadium will differ from all other ball parks in the respect that even the base paths will be covered. The only dirt will be around home plate, the pitchers mound and a sliding area around each base.

Our "fearless" forecast — Gene Littler will be a little too much for the rest of the field in the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open . . . Roger McCluskey will set the pace for the race at Indy 500.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

CHS Teachers Give Opinions Of Journalism Staff's Work

By DIANE MILLER and
RICK WITHERS

Several teachers were asked their opinions of the 1969-1970 Red and Black editions. Their replies were:

Mr. Brooke — "It's the only part of the paper I read faithfully every Friday. I like the sports and club sections best."

Mrs. Norris — "It's the first part of the paper I read every Friday. It has helped me find out who certain students are."

Mrs. Wilson — "Red and Black is really good. It gave a good account of happenings in school."

Mr. Stewart — "Fine and interesting."

Mrs. Tarbill — "I've enjoyed it a lot more since I know the kids."

Mrs. Brobst — "I think the interviews are better this year. People want to know what's going on and what people think of things. Red and Black does this."

Mr. Brudzinski — "Very good. It gives the public an idea of what is going on with the younger generation at CHS."

Mr. Spring — "Well done. Very well edited, interesting, covers new things very well."

Mr. Fisher — "Red and Black has done a very good job interpreting things but a school newspaper is needed to distribute in school."

Mrs. Rose — "I've liked it. It's very interesting and lets me know what's going on."

Mrs. Fischer — "I read the Red and Black page every Friday and enjoy it very much. I enjoy the club interviews and any awards received by students."

Miss Bower — "I liked it and looked forward to reading it."

Miss Taylor — "I read the Red and Black every Friday and enjoy it very much."

Mr. Shull — "I enjoy reading about the teachers very much. You don't get to know about their backgrounds working with them everyday. Some of their backgrounds interest me!"

Mr. Lint — "I like it. It's written well, it's interesting and very good. Very informative to the public about what is happening at CHS."

Guardsmen's Wives Picket Armory

URBANA, Ohio (AP) — The wives of 16 National Guardsmen, accompanied by some children, picketed the armory here Thursday urging that their husbands be sent home from duty in the Ohio State University area.

Guard officials said they sympathize with the women. The Urbana unit has been called up three times this month — twice at Ohio State and once at Ohio University. The men were released from duty late Thursday.

Blount Denies Nixon Cabinet Badly Divided Over Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount says talk about a divided Nixon cabinet is "a lot of malarkey" by a news media biased against the administration.

"They are strong individual people," Blount said of his nine colleagues who with himself, make up President Nixon's Cabinet.

"That doesn't mean at all that sometimes we don't hold different opinions, but to say this is a divided cabinet—that's just a lot of foolishness."

Blount said in an interview

the news media has inaccurately pictured the cabinet as sharply divided over Cambodia and placed an "extreme overemphasis" on speeches by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while underplaying demonstrations of support for the President's war policies.

He also contended the Nixon administration has not only listened to young people, but has done a great deal for them in the way of draft reform and efforts to seek limitations of nuclear weapons.

Blount, a staunch supporter of Nixon's Cambodian policy, said the administration has an obligation to explain its decisions about Indochina to young people, whose "depth of feeling is extremely impressive." But he added:

But when the media covers the administration, he said, "it seems to tip the balance wheel a little. It begins to let its bias show."

One example, Blount said, is "the extreme overemphasis by the media on the vice president's speeches . . . it doesn't seem to want to take things in context."

"The vice president's main criticism of the media is of lack of balance," he said. "But the media rants and raves when the vice president makes a speech."

'70 Class Memorial Chosen By Seniors

Senior class members voted last Wednesday to leave a new record player for the student lounge and a new baseball scoreboard as a class memorial. Approximately five hundred dollars will be used towards the purchase of these items.

"SOFT CELL"—Beverly Acosta, injured severely and handicapped in an auto accident, cuddles the kitten sent to her in Garden City, Mich., by the 99 men who belong to the Jaycee chapter at Southern Michigan State Prison in Jackson. They figure she deserves "the full rights and privileges" of honorary membership. They also sent her toys, painted pictures of animals and clowns. The "hard cell" Jaycees went "soft cell" when they read about her in a newspaper.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my parents
Mr. & Mrs. Andrew J. Valentine, sisters, Georgia Brown, Mary
Guthrie, brothers Harry Hunt,
Lawrence and Emanuel Valentine.
Looking back with memories
Along the road we trod
I bless the years I had you.
And leave the rest to God.
I will not forget you, nor do I intend
I think of you often and will till the end
Gone and forgotten by some you may be
But dear to memories you will always be
Daughter-sister Christina

Sex Education Banned

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — School children will be "safeguarded" against possible sex education by a ban affecting all Transvaal province schools Education Director Dr. A. L. Coetzee announced. "Up to now there has officially been no sex education in Transvaal schools. The ban on sex education is therefore nothing new," Coetzee said. If children spontaneously ask about sex in class, the teacher must "use his discretion in accordance with policy." He must never answer the child in front of the class, Coetzee said.

WHERE IT'S A PLEASURE TO DO BUSINESS

Westfall Mustangs Edge Unioto Nine, 5-2

CO-CHAMPS — Coach Paul Hoskins and his Westfall Mustangs are co-champions of the Scioto Valley Conference. The youthful club has one senior and 19 freshmen and sophomores which should give the Mustangs a bright future. They defeated Unioto, 5-2, Thursday for a share of the Scioto Valley Conference title. Both teams finished the season with conference records of 9-3. Westfall ended the season with an overall record of 14-6.

Win Gives Share Of SVC Crown

John Valone's big double in the eighth inning scored two Mustangs and enabled Westfall to beat Unioto, 5-2, Thursday for a share of the Scioto Valley Conference title.

Replaying the tie game with Unioto the Mustangs needed a win and the youthful Westfall did just that at the Veterans Administration Field at Chillicothe.

Greg Bigam went all the way for the Mustangs and came up with his seventh win of the season against two losses.

He walked three, struck out seven and was only in trouble in the third inning when a single, triple and sacrifice fly plated two runs for the Mustangs.

UNIO's pitching ace, Arlen Dailey, was on the mound fanning four and walking two as he went the distance.

Westfall came up with five runs on 10 hits and committed two errors. The Mustangs scored two runs with nine hits and made one miscue.

Playing with the poise and determination of true champions, the Mustangs broke in front, fell behind, pulled even and refusing to panic, took the Sherman into extra innings to win.

After a scoreless first inning, the Mustangs broke into the lead in the second.

Steve Bailey reached first on a fielder's choice and promptly stole second. Doug McKay rapped a single and Bailey tore up the base paths getting home with the first Westfall run. The narrow margin held up until the third when the Shermans came up with their only real threat putting everything together for two markers.

THE score remained 2-1 until the sixth frame. Bigam opened the inning with a single and moved to second on a one bagger by Bailey. Mike Sines laid down a perfect sacrifice bunt to move the runners to second and third, where Bigam scored on a wild pitch to knot the game at 2-2.

Neither team scored in the seventh and the battle continued into the eighth stanza.

Bigam again opened the top of the inning with a smashing double. Bailey singled to move Bigam to third where he was caught in a run down on Mike Sines' fielders choice.

Sines and Bailey moved up in the run down and Valone followed with the big double to plate both runners. Joe Clem singled to score Valone and this was all the Mustangs needed as the Shermans failed to score in the last of the eighth.

Mike Sines should be singled out for some fine defensive work at third base coming up with several fine plays to help keep the Shermans in check.

Coach Paul Hoskins and his young men deserve a world of credit for bringing the share of the title back to Pickaway County. They started the season as a bunch of inexperienced players and developed into champions.

Deer Creek Fishing Opens

Deer Creek Reservoir will be opened for the harvest of all species of fish on June 1, 1970. This 1,277 acre Reservoir has been closed to the taking of bass, muskie and northern pike but on June 1, the angler can keep these species.

Recently the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Division of Wildlife test netted Deer Creek Reservoir and found an excellent fishery to be present. Black and white crappies up to 14 inches, channel catfish ranging between 15 and 24 inches, walleyes averaging 18 inches and good sized bluegill are awaiting the angler.

Many recent reports of 20 to 35 crappies in a single creel have been received by the Division of Wildlife. Most local anglers maintain that the crappie fishing has just got off to a good start at Deer Creek Reservoir.

Atwater School Captures Circleville Track Meet

TRAFFIC DIRECTOR — Circleville Coach Denny Williams directs the flow of young traffic to the proper places at the Circleville elementary school track meet at Circleville high school stadium Thursday. Boys and girls from the fourth, fifth and sixth grades participated in the events. Ribbons were given to the first three places in the various events and the winning school received a trophy.

Running before a highly enthusiastic crowd Thursday at the high school stadium, Atwater won the Circleville elementary school track meet.

With both boys and girls competing in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades Atwater compiled 258½ points to lead the field.

Nicholas Drive followed with 214 points, South Court had 190, High Street and Corwin combined for 142½ and Mound Street garnered 137½.

The winners in all the events are listed below.

SPORTS Highlights

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, who feel they have snapped a jinx against San Diego, open a three-game series tonight against the other National League cellar dweller.

Gary Nolan, 6-2, will oppose Montreal's Mike Wegener who will be making his first start. He has no record.

FAIRBORN, Ohio (AP) — May be the 1970 Western Ohio League baseball winner should read Gary Wright instead of Fairborn, the high school he pitches for.

The 17-year-old senior lefthander hurled and won all to Fairborn's nine league games, five of them shutouts.

The school was 16-12 for all games, Wright 13-1. One of his wins was a 3-1 verdict over state semifinalist Dayton Chaminade.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Overlooked Little Dancer, driven by Ray Paver, led from wire to wire Thursday night to win the $1,100 conditioned feature at Scioto Downs.

Little Dancer paid $7.80, $3.80 and $2.40, Yankee Girl, who finished more than three lengths behind the winner, returned $5 and $2.60. Knight Ballad showed for $2.20.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

We would like to congratulate Coach Danny Fouts and the Circleville Tigers for adding another trophy to the Red and Black trophy case.

It was a job well done by a fine bunch of young men and added to Coach Jim Lint's track team trophy gives us a fine spring sports season.

Although Coach Steve Brudzinski's golf squad didn't win it all they had a good season and were always a credit to themselves and the school . . . Who knows? . . . A couple of putts here and there could have meant another trophy.

We had an interesting visitor Tuesday. Gordy Coleman of the Cincinnati Reds dropped in and spent some time with us. He is the former Red first baseman and now the director of the speakers bureau for the Reds.

If you ever need a speaker for one of your organizations Coleman is the man to contact.

Stan Musial's advice to young hitters . . . Take a comfortable stance . . . Be yourself and don't try to copy anyone. To hit well you must feel natural at the plate.

You must always be aggressive as a hitter and you must always try to hit strikes unless you have orders to take the pitch. If you don't swing at good strikes the pitcher has you where he wants you and the first thing you know you will be swinging at his pitch.

Our little gem of information — The Astro Turf in the new Cincinnati Riverfront Stadium will differ from all other ball parks in the respect that even the base paths will be covered. The only dirt will be around home plate, the pitchers mound and a sliding area around each base.

Our "fearless" forecast — Gene Littler will be a little too much for the rest of the field in the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open . . . Roger McCluskey will set the pace for the race at Indy 500.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Admits Theft Of Dynamite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Warren youth has admitted in U.S. District Court here that he took nine sticks of dynamite from the Ravenna Arsenal while employed there.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jack B. Streepy said in court Thursday that Michael A. Edwards took the dynamite in April. Edwards later was arrested by the FBI.

Streepy said one pound of the dynamite was enough to destroy a medium-size house. He said Edwards had taken six pounds of the explosive.

Edwards admitted two counts of theft of government property. Streepy said Edwards could be charged only with a misdemeanor since the dynamite was valued at less than $100.

Sentencing was delayed pending a pre-sentence report. The maximum penalty is one year in prison and $1,000 fine on each count.

Lockbourne Open House Set June 21

The power of the U.S. Air Force will be on display June 21 when Lockbourne AFB stages its annual Open House.

Visitors will get a close-up view of the aircraft assigned to Lockbourne plus a wide variety of other planes and helicopters brought in for the giant show.

LAFB airplanes on static display include the C-130 Hercules transport, the KC-135 Stratotanker and the AC-119 Gunship.

One of the more versatile transports in service, the C-130, is a four-engine turboprop that carries a crew of four. Capable of carrying 92 troops, the C-130 can also be modified into a rescue or reconnaissance aircraft.

The KC-135s belong to Lockbourne's 301st Air Refueling Wing. Called "flying gas stations," the Stratotankers live up to their name by refueling fighters and bombers in mid-air.

Lockbourne's most famous attack plane, the AC-119 Gunship, will also be on display. Modified from the C-119 Flying Boxcar, the AC-119 boasts four mini-guns that fire 6,000 rounds per minute.

Another static display will be the C-123 Provider, a cargo plane used with great effectiveness in Southeast Asia. Somewhat smaller than the C-130, the Provider transports equipment for combat troops.

The airplane of the Ohio Air National Guard, the F-100 Super Sabre, will be shown along with the C-47 "Gooney Bird" transport. Also here on June 21 will be the C-124 Globemaster, the KC-97 Stratofreighter and the OV-10 Bronco.

Base gates open at noon. Visitors should come early to be in plenty of time for the mid-afternoon air show by the Thunderbirds who will be flying the F-4E Phantom fighter-bombers.

Visits to the National Parks are expected to exceed 176 million this year, nearly nine per cent more than in 1969. An increase of 18 per cent is expected at recreation areas, such as Nevada's Lake Mead which alone counted 5 million visitors last year.

The Adult Reading World

"Tis June, and the air is not polluted. It is filled with the scent of orange blossoms. Large stiff white envelopes are deposited in mailboxes. And everyone, whether involved in a wedding or not, has a fondness for stories of true love.

While the father of the bride digs deeply into his pockets, mother rushes to consult Emily Post and Amy Vanderbilt. Sometimes, she is not even aware of the many helpful books available to her.

To prepare young people for marriage, there are such guide books as "Letters to Karen" and "Letters to Philip", by Charles W. Sheard, Dr. Sheard, a Presbyterian minister, suggests how to make the most out of marriage. He talks about tact, compliments, in-laws with good humor and commonsense.

"When You Marry", by Evelyn Duvall and Reuben Hill, has three main parts. The first is called "Anticipating Marriage"; the second "Being Married"; and third, "Becoming a Family". Written expressly for teenagers and recently revised, the books are comprehensive.

Effie Harder Hunt, head of a bridal service bureau, has long experience in planning weddings. Her "How to Have a Perfect Wedding", contains information on wedding customs dating back to the early Egyptian times. It includes a time schedule which should ensure a smooth flow of preparation.

Editors of "The Brides' Magazine" have updated their "Brides' Book of Etiquette", surely one of the best. Clever cartoons point up chapter headings, and decorate the text. "Wedding Flowers, Decorations, and Etiquette" by Virginia Clark contains beautiful photographs. In color and in black and white, they depict arrangements for everything from the announcement part to the wedding guest-book table.

There are several party game books in the library, many of which include suggestions for bridal showers. "Showers for Brides and Babies" by Nina and contains good suggestions for entertainment at pre-marriage functions. A related book is "Wedding Anniversary Celebrations" by Beatrice Plum and Mabel Fuller.

For the honeymoon, if it's to be nearby, there is guidance to be found in "The Wonderful World of Ohio." This beautifully photographed periodical has great ideas for visits to nearby scenic spots. "Holiday" and "Travel" magazines are full of suggestions for longer and more elaborate trips.

"House Beautiful" has many decorating tips, as has "Better Homes and Gardens". "Better Homes" also includes foods in its pages. The library stocks hundreds of cookbooks from the general ones like "American Home All Purpose Cookbook" and "Recipes of All Nations" to specific titles like "The Jack Sprat Cookbook" and "Gifts from your Kitchen."

If the bride has never managed her own apartment, she may find help in "The Good Housekeeping Guide for Young Homemakers" or "How to Keep House."

Kidnap Story All Mixed Up, Daytonian Says

CHICAGO (AP) — A Dayton Ohio, man supposedly kidnapped by three men says he just took a roundabout ride to downtown Chicago and lost his cousin's car in the process.

William Payne, 37, of Dayton, was found by police in a downtown bus station Thursday, several hours after his cousin reported him missing.

The cousin said he went to make a telephone call. When he returned, his car and Payne were missing. Passersby said the three men had climbed into the car and ordered Payne to drive off.

But Payne explained to police that he had merely driven to a bar for a drink, then boarded a bus downtown. Payne says he does not remember where he left his cousin's car.

Post-Election Bill Repealed By Ohio Solons; Never Used

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Gov. James A. Rhodes who will be out of office after this year, still has some political clout with the Legislature.

With little debate, both houses agreed to repeal a law that would permit cabinet designees of a governor-elect to work with his outgoing counterparts.

The repeal, signed by the governor Thursday, came before it ever got a test at being workable. The law was passed only last year.

House members argued on the floor that repeal was necessary because the law would be too costly to abide by.

But they confided privately the governor didn't want it. They quickly went about following through with the gubernatorial wishes.

Democrats, other than House Minority Leader John C. McDonald, have been strangely quiet as Republicans attempt to dig from the state investment scandal.

But not for long. State Democratic Chairman Eugene "Pete" O'Grady has been watching the developments closely. He has double-checked with Democratic candidates to make sure none of them also obtained campaign funds from officers of Crofters Inc.

The firm obtained funder's fees for arranging loans from the state treasury and the School Employees Retirement contributed to the campaigns of several Republicans.

O'Grady thus far has been unable to find any Democratic candidate who admits to having received similar contributions. The controversy is expected to be renewed after Memorial Day as O'Grady's forces attempt to dislodge Republicans.

3 Swimming Places Closed By State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Holiday weekend swimmers will be turned away from three Lake Erie beaches. The Ohio Health Department said bacterial content in the waters is too high.

The department closed swimming areas at Crane Creek Park in Ottawa and Lucas counties, Headlands Park in Lake County and Geneva State Park in Ashtabula County.

It said the bacterial count is high because of runoff into the lake resulting from recent heavy storms. The parks will be re-opened for swimming as soon as the bacteria count drops within safe limits, health officials said.

from their Statehouse offices.

Sen. Oakley C. Collins of Ironton, chairman of the House Education, Health and Welfare Committee, believes a lot of the problems arising on the Ohio State University campus stems from the fact the school is too large.

Collins said branch campuses are going to have to become four-year colleges and that enrollment as OSU is going to have to be sharply curtailed.

The Ohio State enrollment is now around 45,000. The enrollment limit until a couple years back had been 30,000 and Collins believes that is where it should be now.

Admits Theft Of Dynamite

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Warren youth has admitted in U.S. District Court here that he took nine sticks of dynamite from the Ravenscroft Arsenal while employed there.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Jack B. Streepy said in court Thursday that Michael A. Edwards took the dynamite in April. Edwards later was arrested by the FBI.

Streepy said one pound of the dynamite was enough to destroy a medium-size house. He said Edwards had taken six pounds of the explosive.

Edwards admitted two counts of theft of government property. Streepy said Edwards could be charged only with a misdemeanor since the dynamite was valued at less than $100.

Sentencing was delayed pending a pre-sentence report. The maximum penalty is one year in prison and $1,000 fine on each count.
